PHS Class of '27's 50th Reunion Provides a Happy Look at Town Half a Century Ago

*Renwick's is gone --
The Ball's no more;
All this we're sure
You will deplore;
But Princeton is Princeton;
So don't you groan,
Just come in pairs,
Or come alone!*

With this homespun verse, the class of 1927 at Princeton High School has invited all classmates to attend a 50th Reunion dinner at the Nassau Inn this Saturday night. It will be the first reunion ever for this class, many of whose members have not seen each other since their graduation on Monday night, June 27, 1927, in Alexander Hall.

Using the motto, "50 for the 50th," a committee headed by Edwin L. Kimble and assisted by William J. Lowe as corresponding secretary has worked for two years to gather current married names and addresses. They have sent out invitations to the 48 graduates and their wives, to faculty members still living in the area and to members of the neighboring classes. Their efforts have been rewarded by acceptances of over 75, which by this Saturday may even reach 100. Many are coming from as far away as Florida.

The Class of 1927 was one of the last to graduate from the stone and stucco building at 185 Nassau Street, now owned by Princeton University for its program in the creative arts. The "new" high school on Moore Street was built in 1929. The old stucco part of the building on the left housed the elementary grades for white children (there was the new brick school on Quarry Street for blacks in the lower grades), and the newer stone portion on the right included junior high (7th, 8th and 9th), as well as high school grades.

As R. Douglas MacNamee puts it, "You entered the east end in kindergarten and as a senior, came out the west." Mr. MacNamee has returned to Princeton from Barcelona, Spain, where he and his wife now live, to attend this reunion, following his 45th at Princeton University last weekend. A talented jazz pianist, Mr. MacNamee worked in advertising agencies in New York and Trenton before retiring in 1975.

Miss Mabel T. Vanderbilt was the supervising principal of the school system then, and faculty and students alike say "she ruled with an iron hand and everyone was scared to death of her." "But she was absolutely fair, a great gal, a terrific person," adds Raymond A. Bowers, another member of the class and president now of the construction firm his father founded, Lewis C. Bowers & Sons.

Edith Margerum, who was then in

WINES OF GRAVES

The word Graves (Grahv) in French means gravel and is generally used to denote a specific, delineated area of the Bordeaux Country on the left banks of the Garonne River, west and south of the city of Bordeaux. The Graves area produces both red and white wines (approximately two million gallons). The whites dominate and come from the Sauvignon Blanc and Semillon grapes. Most of the white wines of Graves are shipped either as a regional blend labelled with the Appellation d'Origine Controlee (A.C.) "Graves" or as chateau wines such as chateau Olivier, chateau Carbonnieux, or chateau Haut-Brion Blanc, etc. The white wines of Graves are dry and clean-tasting. They go well with all sea-food dishes and are equally delightful with towl or white meal dishes. "Graves Superieures" is an official designation for a white Graves that has attained, by natural fermentation, 12% of alcohol.

J. Seward Johnson Seeks Helistop on Estate; Public Hearing Is Scheduled Here on June 29

J. Seward Johnson would like to have a helistop at his "Jasna Polana" estate on the Lawrenceville Road. He zips in and out of Mercer County Airport in Ronson Aviation helicopters, and he's decided it would be a lot more convenient if he could be dropped at his front door.

So Ronson has applied to the state for a helistop license. Public hearing, as required by law, has been scheduled for Wednesday, June 29, at 10 a.m. in Princeton Township Hall. Anybody who wants to speak at the hearing, or who would like to submit written statements, must make application by June 22. The request should be made to James E. Varanyak, Division of Aeronautics, Department of Transportation, 1035 Parkway Avenue, Trenton, 08625. Those who have not applied will not be heard.

A helistop is not a heliport. Heliports are permanent installations. A helistop accommodates helicopters, but can be used for other things as well. Mr. Johnson would like to use a field approximately 100 acres in extent, some 400 to 500 feet in from the Lawrenceville Road. There would be no fuel, no buildings, just a stick with a wind indicator, according to Jack Kottler, chief pilot for Ronson.

Nobody else would be able to land there, except possibly a guest, and anybody who did want to land would have to obtain permission from Ronson.

Helistops, Mr. Kottler says, are classified by the state as small, medium or large according to size, and this would probably be a large one, although Ronson could request a smaller area, if Mr. Johnson wished.

The helicopters used by Ronson are Bell Jet Rangers, with a capacity of four plus the pilot, and a maximum full weight of 3,200 pounds. ".....about the size of a middle-sized car," Mr. Kottler estimates. They are like the ones used by New Jersey State Police, and are a common corporation vehicle.

The helistop could, by law, be used only in daylight hours. The license would be for a "Day VFR" - visual flight rule - and a separate license and special lighting for the field, would be required for any night flights.

Usually, Mr. Kottler says, Ronson flies Mr. Johnson once or twice a month.

Princeton Township has an ordinance prohibiting helicopter installations, but the courts have said that the state can over-ride the local law.

Would You Pay 50¢ to Park at Medical Center? First Round Over on Plans for Parking Garage

"You can't expect people to pay 50¢ to park when they could park for free," Planning Board member William H. Walker told Princeton Medical Center President John Kauffman at Monday night's Planning Board meeting.

"You'd pay 50¢ so you wouldn't have to walk a couple of blocks," Mr. Kauffman retorted, "I don't think Princeton people are THAT cheap".

The Planning Board, weary-eyed, shut down the meeting around midnight, scheduling Thursday, June 16, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall as the next time and place to hear the Medical Center's reasons for wanting permission to build a 395-car toll garage on Henry Avenue. Before that date, however, the Medical Center will appear again before the Township Zoning Board. It will be a special meeting next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Township Hall.

Postponement Sought. The Planning Board had asked the Zoning Board to postpone the hospital's appearance. The planners would like to complete the work they have to do on the Medical Center's garage request so the Zoning Board can have all the planning information before it acts on the request for use variance.

However, the Zoning Board decided to let a hospital parking consultant, James M. Hunnicutt, have the floor at the May 25 meeting of the

from the street and the Pirone house are matters before the Zoning Board.

Cars will enter from Henry at the garage's northwest corner, traveling through the structure by ramps. Cars may also enter from Franklin Avenue and either park in that area, as now, or go into the garage from the southeast corner. Only emergency vehicles will be allowed between the garage and the hospital building.

Cars entering from Witherspoon will pass the Medical Arts building front door then travel north toward Henry Avenue and the entrance. All cars will exit at the Henry Avenue corner. Mr. Hunnicutt estimated that 75 percent of the cars will then exit through Witherspoon and only 25 via Henry.

Traffic Drop Possible. Mr. Hunnicutt told the board that traffic in the area may actually decrease, because cars will no longer have to circle the neighborhood repeatedly in search of a parking space.

"But once it's there, won't you get more traffic?" insisted board member Jerome Rose.

"No," Mr. Kauffman replied, "because we aren't offering any new services at the Center."

"This is a residential zone," said James A. Floyd, 64 Harris, to Mr. Hillier. "Can you say, as a professional, that this garage would not be detrimental in any other residential zone in the Township?"

"It would depend on the facility it was serving," Mr. Hillier replied, "You must take it in the context of the Medical Center."

Mr. Floyd listened to a detailed description of landscaping and plantings to be done on the Henry side of the garage, then questioned the Zoning Board because he had come all the way from Washington. He was the only person who spoke. The rest of the Medical Center's case will be presented to the Zoning Board Tuesday.

It is regarded as doubtful that the Zoning Board will act, however, until it receives the full and complete report of Planning Board action.

Briskly, Planning Board chairman Margen Penick told hospital lawyers Monday night that they would have one hour for presentation, to be followed by 30 minutes for audience questions.

But her plans for a short evening collapsed when the Medical Center's dismayed lawyers protested. She lost from another quarter late in the evening when she announced that public comment would have to wait until the following meeting. Both board and audience objected, and it was not until 11:45 that everybody agreed it was time to go home.

Dimensions Given. The Center's garage, as described by architect J. Robert Hillier, would be 29 feet high at its highest point, and 20 feet high next to its eastern neighbor, the home of Mrs. Florence Pirone at 41 Henry Avenue.

A three and one-half-foot railing will encircle the top, but there will be a solid barrier on the Pirone side. Lights on the roof will shine in, away from Henry Avenue. The setback of the garage the early part of a 38-year career teaching art to all the grades in the Borough system, commented that Miss Vanderbilt "made the school system what it is today. She could go into any classroom from first grade on to special courses in high school and know exactly what was being out in her memory. reputation for being the best principal in New Jersey." Miles Thompson was principal of the high school and a Latin teacher; to many of the students he was known as "Pussy Foot" Thompson "because you never knew when he was coming."

However, Edward Warren, who was captain of the football team which won the State B Championship in the fall of 1926, remembers Mr. Thompson as being "an awfully nice man. If you were sent to his office, as boys often were who weren't great students but preferred to play half in the afternoon from 1-6 football, he could be kind but severe." Mr. Warren was Borough Tax Assessor for nearly 20 years and sales manager of the Chevrolet agency.

A Protest Is Launched. Miss Margerum recalls that she once made the "mistake" of flunking a football player. The whole team converged upon her art room en masse, and although she did not rescind her decision, she was careful not to flunk an athlete thereafter. Other teachers were Miss Osgood, a homeroom and an English teacher; Miss Jean Wright, who taught Latin and French and Mr. Fernstein who taught shop ("that was a bright spot in the day," remembers Mr. Bowers.)

Teachers who expect to attend the reunion include Miss A. Myrtle Hensor who taught typing and shorthand and was head of the Business Education Department at the high school for many years; Mrs. Lanahan (now Mrs. Murray) who taught math and Miss Miriam Heppler who taught math in the junior high school for two years and later married Edward Kopp, son of the owner of the bicycle store.

Mrs. Kopp recalls that a starting teacher's salary was $1,500 in 1923 and that Princeton was a man's town with not a dress shop in sight. "You went to Trenton to buy clothes and the rich went to New York." To Mrs. Kopp, it is the boys in her classes who stand out in her memory. "Most of the girls were nice little girls teacher was doing. If you did and did what you told them to, not measure up, you were not but the boys were something asked back. She had a else!"

Robert Lechner who was the popular football and basketball coach will be returning with his wife for the reunion. Mr. Lechner was athletic director for many years and later taught at the Hun School.

Double Sessions in Vogue. In 1927, Princeton High School drew students from as far as Kingston, Lawrenceville, and 1926, remembers Mr. West Windsor, and in the Thompson as being "an years before the new school session. Students attended were who weren't great half the year in the morning, students but preferred to play half in the afternoon from 1-6 football, he could be kind but The favorite place for lunch severe." Mr. Warren was Renwick's, which was Borough Tax Assessor for famous for its sweet rolls, and nearly 20 years and sales the Balt, which served manager of the Prince cafeteria style.

There was a "terrible bus" which brought Lester Applegate, Ray Bowers, Bill Dey and others in from Dutch Neck, and if a student wanted to participate in a sport or an extracurricular activity, he had to hitch a ride home, not easy in those days.

The high school orchestra was founded in the late 1920's ("We were not as good as they are today," says Mr. Bowers), and the senior play was a thriller by Mary Roberts Rhinehart. During the senior year, the nation celebrated its Sesquicentennial, and members of the class served as ushers at special commemorations in the Garden Theatre and Alexander Hall on the evenings of January 3 and 4.

On May 27, 1927, some of the class were invited to go to General Lenox Scott's yacht in New York Harbor to welcome Charles Lindbergh back from his historic trans-Atlantic flight. Mr. Kimble, who was president of the Township Board of Education during the 1940's and a member of the geology faculty at Bryn Mawr and of Princeton University's department of civil engineering before he took over his father's funeral business, remembers vividly the crowds of welcoming tugboats and the fireboats spraying water.

There were three courses of study, academic, general and commercial. The high school was integrated, but "we didn't have any problems," recalls Mr. Bowers, who went on to Penn State and later the Princeton University School of Architecture.

"Princeton High School gave me an excellent background," Mr. Bowers says, "and I was very appreciative of it during my first year at college, when they took in 1,000 and by spring there only were 500 left."

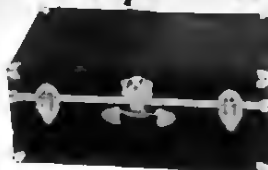

Some high school graduates who were going on to Princeton University took an additional year at the Hun School or at Princeton Prep on the corner of Snowden Lane and Nassau Street, marked today only by two stone pillars. The class was graduated while the boom of the '20s was still on, but within a few years the lives of all were profoundly affected by the Depression.

The class sweethearts were Elsie Wright and Johnny Skillman who will be coming down from New Haven and who must be close to celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary. Mr. Skillman, head squash coach at Yale, was National Professional Squash Racquets Champion in 1933, 1935 and 1937, when he retired, undefeated.

Other members were Margaret Carnevale who married Ray Mondone, later a Borough chief of police; Joe Perpetua, who worked at Farr's Hardware Store for Three Princetonians Given Honorary Degrees As University Holds Its 230th Commencement

Princeton University degrees on seven men and conferred a total of 1,492 women, three of them bachelor and advanced residents of the town of degrees Tuesday morning at Princeton and a fourth a former member of the Princeton faculty who has been named successively as president of two of the nation's well-known colleges since the current decade began.

There were 653 men and 296 women in the graduating senior class -- a total of 949 recipients of bachelor's degrees. The undergraduate degrees included 798 Bachelors of Arts and 151 Bachelors of Science in Engineering.

Of those awarded undergraduate degrees, 436 -- or 46 percent -- received some form of honors: 67 highest honors, 161 high honors and 208 honors; 40.7 percent of women received honors and 47 percent of men.

In keeping with long tradition, the two principal Commencement speeches, the Valedictory and the Latin Salutatory Addresses, were delivered by members of the graduating class. The valedictorian was John Loeser, 21, of Clearwater, Fla.; the salutatorian Bruce Thompson, 21, of Riverhead, N.Y. President William G. Bowen delivered brief remarks at the conclusion of the ceremonies.

The 543 advanced degrees included 223 Doctors of Philosophy, 201 Masters of Arts, 38 Masters of Science in Engineering, 48 Masters in Public Affairs, 19 Masters in Fine Arts, and 14 Masters of Architecture and Urban Planning.

Seven Honoraries. In time-honored custom, the University bestowed honorary

The degree of Doctor of Music went to Princetonian Bethany Beardslee, internationally-known as a soprano. P.J. Conkwright of Princeton, a skilled typographer, received the degree of Doctor of Fine Arts, while Dr. Henry D. Smyth, an emeritus member of the University's Department of Physics and author of the famed report on atomic energy bearing his name, became a Doctor of Science.

Dr. Howard R. Swearer, who taught political science here before serving as AFL-CIO, Doctor of Laws; and Barbara Jordan, Congresswoman from Texas who served in 1974 on the committee inquiring into the impeachment of President Nixon.

Citations for the three Princeton residents and Dr. Swearer follow:

Howard R. Swearer: Recently named president of Brown University, he began his academic career in 1960 as professor of political science of the University of California. Before assuming the presidency of Carleton College in 1970, he held several important international affairs posts with the Ford Foundation Princeton Class of 1954. "Occupying now an eminence in Providence, he leads a scholarly community which has quickly come to value his intelligent good humor, his sensitivity to diverse needs, his eagerness to take counsel and exchange views, his courage to make difficult decisions, his respect for tradition, and his willingness to change when change is called for. Alumnus of ours, student of international affairs, teacher, and experienced administrator, he brings wit, humility, skill and vision to the governance of a great university."

Bethany Beardslee: A resident of Princeton, she has been soprano soloist with major symphony orchestras throughout the United States and has performed many times at the university. She has also appeared in important contemporary festivals in the U.S. and Canada, and at the International Festival of the Society of Contemporary Music. "Her singing artistry has been a constant source of encouragement to a host of twentieth-century composers -- a spur to their creative endeavors and, not least, a cause for their gratitude. In her serious contemporary musicians have in the truest sense an ally, a defender of their faith in musical substantiality and in performing excellence. To Princeton artists and audiences, and to lovers of music the world over, she provides inspiration, education, and delight. Her brilliant voice is an instrument of praise to the brightest products of the human spirit."

Pleasant Jefferson Conkwright: World famous in his field, the expertise of P.J. has been acknowledged for many years. He began his career as art editor for the University of Oklahoma Press in 1938, and in 1939 he came to Princeton University Press as typographer, the position he held until his retirement in 1970. He also held faculty positions at Princeton University: associate professor of graphic arts, 1960-1967; professor of graphic arts, 1967-1970. Exhibitions of his printing have been presented at the Graphic Arts Gallery. "Peerless in the art of book design, he is the modest master of a demanding skill whose products daily enhance the life of the liberal university."

Ludlum to University: "Don't Worry The Sky Will Be Blue by 11 O'Clock"

Princeton University was able to hold its 230th commencement in front of Nassau Hall Tuesday because of a highly accurate weather forecast by David Ludlum. A member of the Class of 1933, Mr. Ludlum has made both a hobby and a profession of meteorology for more than four decades, and during World War II became famous when he told the Army's commanding general in Italy exactly when conditions would be favorable for launching a major bombing mission on Cassino, a vital German stronghold on the road to Rome.

Throughout the day Monday, during steady rain, the National Weather Service forecast was for more precipitation at least until Tuesday afternoon. Its predictions for New Jersey are split in two -- one for the southern sector of the state, another for the northern area. Central New Jersey -- and Princeton -- are by no means pinpointed.

At 7:30 Tuesday morning, Mr. Ludlum was in consultation with Leslie F. Vivian, a member of the University administration in charge of its community affairs, and President William G. Bowen. It was still raining.

Without hesitation, Mr. Ludlum forecast a clearing trend well before 11, the hour at which members of the Class of 1977 and an audience of several thousand were to gather on the University's front campus. With rain still in the faces of those who glanced skyward to test his accuracy, plans were made shortly after 8 to proceed with an outdoor commencement.

By 9 it had stopped raining, by 9:45 there was blue sky, and well before 11, the sun was out. Not since 1962 had rain forced a Princeton commencement indoors (Jadwin Gymnasium would have been the site), and that was the only year since before World War II that degrees could not be conferred in the picturesque setting in front of Nassau Hall.

There may be considerable substance to the rumor that the Class of 1977 will make David M. Ludlum its first honorary member.

Michael M. Stewart '57, a Princeton resident in his early years, now associate professor of medicine and chief of the Division of General Medicine of the Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York City; Jack O. Horton, Jr. '60, former Assistant Secretary of the Interior; and Kenneth Offit '77, who graduated on Tuesday, will serve four-year terms on Princeton's governing board.

The new trustees represent three categories. All of Princeton's approximately 40,000 alumni were eligible to vote in the election of Stewart as Alumni-Trustee-at-Large. Mr. Horton was elected Alumni Trustee for Region IV by alumni residing in Washington, Oregon, California, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Hawaii, Alaska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and foreign countries. Mr. Offit was elected by the members of the junior and senior classes and the two youngest alumni classes.

In addition to serving on the faculty at the Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons, Mr. Stewart is also an attending physician at Presbyterian Hospital and associate director of the Columbia University Center for Community Health Systems. Now 41, he is a native of Princeton, and a graduate of the Hotchkiss School.

At Princeton, Mr. Stewart was graduated magna cum laude in philosophy and won the Class of 1869 Prize in Ethics. He lettered in varsity football and was vice president of his senior class, president of the Westminster Foundation and Cap and Gown Club, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, executive officer of the NROTC unit, and winner of the Poe Cup, the Pyne Honor Prize, and the Class of 1901 Medal.

Following graduation he entered active duty with the Navy as an intelligence officer and then attended New College, Oxford, as a Rhodes Scholar. He received his M.D. from Harvard in 1965, completed his clinical training in internal medicine at the Massachusetts General Hospital, and received a master's degree in public health from Harvard in 1968.

He and his wife, Fritts, live in New Rochelle, N.Y., with their four children, ages 3 through 9.

TOWNSHIP AROUSED
At Supreme Court Rejection. "Let's write the Legislature!" exclaimed Township Committee member David Blair last Wednesday, as Committee pondered its rejection by New Jersey's Supreme Court.
The Court declined to consider the Township's case against two property-owners--the Institute for Advanced Study and All Saints Church--who claim tax exemptions for the open space portions of their property.

The Appellate Court ruled in favor of the two institutions as "conservation organizations." Tax exemption under the state's Green Acres law applies to conservation organizations.
"Let's ask the Legislature to plug that loophole," Mr. Blair continued, "and let's advertise those lands to the public for their use--we could have an annual picnic in each one!"
Allan Porter, who served as the Township's special counsel in this case, told the Supreme Court he questions whether the two organizations qualify.

The Institute for Advanced Study has welcomed the public to its woods for almost 40 years. All Saints, in Mr. Porter's words, "has never done anything affirmatively with their land."
Loss of these properties from the Township's tax rolls amounts to $25,665, at 1976 rates. The Township has been particularly concerned because other non-profit institutions, such as Princeton University, Our Lady of Princeton, Stuart Country Day and Princeton Country Day, own vacant land in the Township. Both schools have acreage beyond their normal, tax-exempt school facilities.

DECISION DUE
On Housing Appeal. The Housing Coalition and Borough Council listened to each other until almost 1 a.m. last Wednesday as the Coalition tried to convince Council that the Planning Board acted wrongly when it approved Princeton University's plans for a life-sciences building on William Street.

The plans require removal of six William Street houses. Four of them are scheduled to be moved across the street to new plots carved out of land

Saturday Is Royal Fete Day, and Thousands Will Be There

The Royal Fete this Saturday will provide a colorful spectacle and a profusion of activities to enjoy from 9 to 6 on the Washington Road Field. Sponsored annually by the Auxiliary of the Medical Center at Princeton for the past 24 years, the Fete affords a day of community solidarity for volunteers and visitors alike, while adding thousands of dollars to the capital building fund of the center.

A free shuttle bus to the Fete grounds will run from Bamberger's in the Princeton Shopping Center, Lloyd Terrace on Harrison Street or the Public Library on Witherspoon Street. There is no admission charge to the Fete, but there is a car parking fee of $1.

Against a background of free musical entertainment, the Fete offers several new events this year. A four-minute ride in a hot air balloon, weather permitting, and the Royal Run, a two-mile marathon, are both innovations. All ages may play miniature golf at St. Andrew's Challenge or compete in an ingenious obstacle course known as the Royal Steeplechase, both offered as a part of the Teen Alley Tent.

Games of chance and skill are featured at the Midway with prizes for the winners. Staffed each year by the Rotary Club, as a community service project, the Midway is also the spot for the popular "Person Dunk," which used to be known as the Girl Dunk. Princeton High School Interact Club provides the "persons."

Fete-goers may visit the Rack, the 1977 Fun House, take a ride on the Whip or Swing at the Children's Tent. There will be handcrafts and bargains at the Lane of Shops, a large variety of plants at the Garden Tent and an all day Auction. Items as diverse as a 1971 Toyota, a silver tea service or a golf cart will be up for bids.

Sue Blair and Jerry Reed are co-chairmen of this year's Fete, for which hundreds of volunteers have worked for many months. The Auxiliary has pledged $500,000 for the capital building fund by 1979, and the proceeds of this Fete will give a big boost to fulfilling that goal.

IT'S ALL IN JEST: Rachel Thompson, right, co-chairman with Nan Hewson of the Teen Alley for the Royal Fete looks as if she is going to strike her partner with the mallet as they manoeuvre the popular High Strike game into place for Saturday's benefit for the Medical Center at Princeton. behind the University's Nassau Street properties.

Council will hold a special meeting Monday at 5 p.m. in Borough Hall to vote on the Housing Coalition's appeal. The hearing has been concluded and this will be a decision meeting only.

The Coalition charged that the Planning Board failed to evaluate the overall environmental effect of removing the six houses. "It would be major, not minor," the appeal stated.

In addition, the Planning Board exceeded its statutory authority, the Coalition maintained, by approving two site plans and leaving the final choice to the University.

Princeton University, in its turn, never established a "hardship" to justify the granting of a setback variance, the Coalition told Council.

Shortage Stressed. Joseph P. Moore, a former Borough Council member, described the exodus of native Princeton residents because of lack of housing and Richard Sobel pointed out the need for more housing units in the community. Alma R. Field spoke of the historical significance of the William Street houses, and Robert Hosford reviewed the transcript of the Planning Board meeting at which the decisions were taken.

The Coalition suggested to Council that the Planning Board was predisposed to go along with whatever the University wanted, and Mr. Hosford quoted parts of the transcript which he said bore out that belief.

He quoted a statement by the University's lawyer, Thomas C. Jamieson Jr., that "this is not the classic case of a hardship variance where I come to you and say I've got a lot and unless you give me a variance, I can't use the lot."

He referred also to a statement by Jerome Rose, of the Planning Board, who made a motion to deny the setback request because the University's difficulties were "man-made architectural difficulties."

Other Charges. Regarding site-plan approval, the Coalition declared that it is the responsibility of the Planning Board to vote on a single site plan, and not leave it up to the applicant to decide which one it wants.

"The Planning Board did not really evaluate both site plans," the Coalition charged. "You can't take several acres of land," Mr. Hosford told Council, "remove six houses and trees and say the effect would be 'minor' since it would change the whole character of the neighborhood."

Artificial Genetic Research at University To Be Delayed by Decision of Its Trustees

Research in artificially re-combinant DNA at Princeton University has been delayed by University trustees.

Three trustees have been appointed to work with Princeton's municipal officials "in an effort to assure that such work might proceed as soon as possible," according to a University statement. The full board of trustees will not meet again until September.

However, the statement, released Tuesday, does not say that the University will necessarily wait until municipal action before authorizing artificially re-combinant DNA research at the low-risk levels known as P-1 and P-2.

Borough Council and Township Committee will hold a joint meeting this Wednesday at 8 in Community Park School to hear public comment on the report of the 11-member citizens DNA committee. At next Tuesday's regular Council meeting, Committee members will go to Borough Hall at 8 to join their colleagues in a second public information meeting on the DNA report.

Decision Welcomed. The University has asked Council and Committee if each will appoint someone to participate in the activities of the University's subcommittee on research with biohazardous material. This committee has been made a standing committee by the trustees. It will monitor all research and review all research proposals involving potentially biohazardous materials.

"Speaking for myself, I am glad the University has delegated trustees to work with the community," said Suzanne Fremont, chairman of the citizens committee. "I think it's important that research not be held up by the calendar."

Mrs. Fremont said she was also pleased that the University has agreed to have community members on its biohazards committee. This is one of the recommendations in the citizens' DNA report.

The biohazards committee, presumably with its two municipally appointed participants, will oversee conventional work on viruses, bacteria, fungi and parasites; work on animals, tissues and cell cultures that may involve viruses, and experiments involving natural — or "in vivo" — DNA re-combination. Artificial DNA re-combination is referred to, in laboratory terminology, as "in vitro," or "in glass."

Artificial Work Delayed. University policies for this kind of natural work may now be put into effect, the University said this week. It is the "in vitro" research that has been delayed, although trustees approved policies and outlined the responsibilities of the biohazards committee for this kind of research.

The University will not do any research at the high-risk, P-4 level. Research at the P-3 level, the statement continued, will follow "high safety standards and requirements for special laboratories."

Safety standards are stricter in some respects than those established by the National Institutes of Health, University officials said.

Princeton's citizens DNA committee decided that artificial DNA recombinant research could be allowed, provided certain restrictions were imposed. Guidelines proposed by the University were sufficient safeguards for public health and safety, a majority of the committee decided. A minority of three dissented from this view.

Trustees named to act on behalf of the full board of trustees are William G. Bowen, president of Princeton University; R. Manning Brown Jr., chairman of the executive committee, and Richard R. Hough, chairman of the grounds and buildings committee.

CHANGE ZONING? Public Hearing Tuesday. Zoning changes allowing Princeton University to put together about a dozen apartments in the central business district will be on the agenda for public hearing when Borough Council holds its June meeting next Tuesday at 8 in Borough Hall.

The ordinance changes the south side of Nassau from Washington Road to the old Nassau Street school building from E-1 to Neighborhood-Business. It also moves the zone boundary south 75 feet from Nassau Street property lines to make room for the four old houses the University plans to move from their present location across William Street.

Most of Council's meeting will be devoted to public comments on the DNA report. (See elsewhere, "Topics of the Town.")

PUBLIC INVITED
To Discuss Block Grant. A special Township Committee meeting will be held this Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Township Hall so that public and Committee can discuss the Township's application for a HUD block grant to buy the 11-acre Kleinberg tract on Bunn Drive.

After the hearing, Committee will move to Community Park School for the 8 p.m. DNA hearing.

Marianne Rees has prepared the required Housing Assistance Plan, and she outlined it in detail, so far as she has been able to complete it, to Committee last Wednesday. She warned Committee that there is more competition for block grants than before, when the Borough obtained one to help in the purchase of Quarry Park. Deadline for the application is this Friday.

Planning Board to Hold Four Meetings in June On New Housing Plan, Public Comment Invited

Four June days have been set aside by the Planning Board to hear public thoughts on the new housing plan, and the Township's citizens advisory committee on housing has been asked to roll up its sleeves and get to work.

Anyone who wants to study the plan may do so by going to the Planning Board office in Borough Hall this Friday — or later — to read it in the office. Printed copies to keep permanently, will not be ready for at least another week.

Last week, Township Committee unanimously agreed that it didn't want to hear Gibbs & Hill, the most looming of all housing developers. The firm has asked for zoning changes so it can build around 600 housing units in the northern part of the Township.

The first public meeting on the new housing proposals will be Monday, June 20. There will be another on Wednesday, June 22, and a third on Saturday, June 25. The fourth will be Tuesday, June 28, and a final one will be held if necessary, on Thursday, June 30.

All will be at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall. The Saturday one will be held at 10 a.m. in Borough Hall.

It is not necessary to attend all meetings. They will be identical, except that different Planning Board members will be present at each.

Informal Meetings. "These meetings will be conversational and informal," said Planning Board chairman Margen Penick at Monday night's board meeting. "We aren't really ready with maps and drawings."

Immediately after these June meetings, the board decided Monday, half a dozen members will start work on the land-use element of the embryo Master Plan.

The chicken-egg aspects of the housing and land-use elements of the Master Plan were discussed at length and sometimes with warmth on Monday.

Mrs. Penick said she was an optimist, believing the land-use plan can be completed by September. Hans K. Sander said gloomily that it took 18 months to do the land-use portions of the 1968 Master Plan.

"We have to analyze the Natural Resources Inventory, then apply it to commercial, industrial, educational and housing elements," pointed out Jerome Rose. "We haven't even touched those elements! It won't be done inside of a year."

Later, the board learned that Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council wants an additional month — until September — to complete work on NRI maps.

Flood of Developers. Mr. Sander brooded about the flood of developers who may inundate the Township when the gates of the moratorium are lifted. But Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said he didn't see how those gates could be fully opened until infiltration is repaired and the downstream sewer plant in full operation.

"No court will upset our zoning laws," assured Mr. Rose. "Stop worrying that a developer will knock our zoning ordinance out, and let's not rush land-use."

Anyway developers will still have the right to build when no variances are required, he added.

Meanwhile, Township citizens on the housing advisory committee feel they've been idly spinning and they sent Ted Allen to Wednesday night's Committee meeting for an assignment.

"Governing bodies need advice desperately!" Margaret Broadwater told Mr. Allen.

"Small houses on small lots are quite a departure from present zoning," added Elizabeth Hutter, "we must work out what 'small scale' really means. How many small lots are left?"

Dr. Broadwater suggested the citizens might make a list of land parcels which could be used as land "banks"; explore the percentage of high-density units a developer might be allowed; perhaps take a stand on priorities and the location of density housing units.

Moments earlier, Committee had backed away sharply from a meeting with Gibbs & Hill. The company wants to appear before Committee to make its case for zoning change.

Gibbs & Hill have maintained that the zoning ordinance could be amended even in non-conformity to a land-use plan, provided Committee passed amendments with a majority vote and gave reasons. Besides, an amendment to the zoning ordinance would be all right because the Planning Board has issued various statements "in the spirit of" the forthcoming Master Plan.

Municipal attorney Gordon Griffin supported Committee's reluctance to meet with the developer. He told Committee the Master Plan remains "as is" until formally changed. The zoning ordinance now conforms to the Master Plan, and since amendment to that plan is in the foreseeable future, it is best to wait and make the zoning ordinance conform to the amended Master Plan.

Committee member David Blair said he was disturbed at the possibility of hearing Gibbs & Hill.

"We'd be by-passing all the other boards," he observed.

Commission on Aging due to the illness of her husband. George Geary, 102 Birch, was named to replace her.

Committee decided to back away from re-aligning Cherry Valley Road, at least for now. The proposal was made some five years ago, but could not be fulfilled because of a property dispute, which has now been resolved.

Original plans called for an 80-foot right of way and a 34-foot pavement width. The pavement is now about 20 feet wide. Re-alignment was planned for east of the Cherry Hill intersection where there is a structurally unsound bridge and a bad curve. It was to have been done jointly with adjoining Somerset County.

Nature Takes Its Course. Projects may stall, but trees just keep right on growing. Some 150 trees, destined for transplanting in the new Community Park area, have grown three or four feet and are now too big to transplant. Cheaper to buy nursery trees than to dig out the big ones, Committee decided. About 30 of the 150 trees are salvageable.

The state won't allow communities to divert money from parks to roads. This means delay in the application for Green Acres bike path money because the Leigh Avenue path is on state land in the right-of-way of the forthcoming Mountain - State jug-handle. Not only that, the state didn't want the bike path in the first place.

Administrator Joseph R. Nini suggested reducing the right of way, providing just enough for the road, and leaving the bike path on Township property. Formal state approval can't come until November, but Green Acres people have told Mr. Nini approval is assured, so it's all right to go ahead and build the jug-handle anyway.

CAR IS LOOTED
At John Witherspoon School. A car owned by Mrs. Marjorie Baker of 355 Bunker Hill, Montgomery Township, was looted Monday while it was parked between 7:50 a.m. and 2:15 in the John Witherspoon School lot. Police said that the rear window had been smashed by an unknown object.

Taken were a suitcase and clothing, raincoat, umbrella, bracelet and religious medals with a combined value of $945.

A 35 mm camera valued at $300 and a $40 radio were stolen last week from the car of James Hundley, a Princeton student, while it was parked in Lot 23 off Faculty Road.

Police report the car was locked and there were no signs

PLANNING FOR WOMEN'S MEETING: Buses and auto caravans of women throughout the state will converge on Princeton June 17-19 to participate in meetings observing International Women's Year. A reception June 17 at 6:30 in Dillon Gym, will launch the weekend. Workshops on a broad range of concerns to women will be held, chiefly in Jadwin Gym, and candidates for governor will participate in the final session June 19 in Jadwin from 2-4. of forced entry. They listed the time of the theft between midnight Thursday and 12:30 Friday afternoon.

While Michael Boccanfuso of Somerville was swimming at the Community Park Pool last week, a thief removed four wheel covers and a hood ornament from his car. They were valued at $210.

Another favorite spot of car thieves - Battlefield Park - was visited again. Susan L. Towner of Lawrenceville lost $9.60 when her purse was taken from her car parked there Sunday afternoon between 4:30 and 5:15.

In the Borough, a Tulane Street resident last week reported the theft of three hubcaps and the left rear wheel skirt from his car while it was parked in front of his house.

In two other incidents involving cars, one was pushed into Stony Brook and another caught fire.

An employee of the Elizabethtown Water Co., Thomas Piornowski, told police that someone released the handbrake of his car while it was parked early in the morning at the pumping station on Stony Brook Lane and let the car roll into Stony Brook. His car suffered water damage.

Minot C. Morgan, general manager of the Institute for Advanced Study, called police last week to report that a station wagon owned by the Institute was on fire. It was extinguished at the scene before police arrived.

Gas leaking from the carburetor onto the manifold is believed to have started the fire which was confined to the engine area.

ANNUAL CAMP PLANNED
By YWCA for Gymnasts. The YWCA will hold its fourth annual Gymnastics Day Camp beginning Friday, June 24, and running through Friday, August 5. There will be three two-week sessions meeting on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 until 3.

Included in the program will be teaching at all levels on the four Olympic events. Trampoline, ballet, swim, films and demonstrations will also be held. For further information and/or applications, call the YWCA, 924-4825 ext. 37 between 9 and 5.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

"Is that what I think it was?" Det. Ronald Holiday thought to himself when he saw a cyclist riding on Nassau Street at University Place late one evening last week. The rider was carrying a potted marijuana plant.

Abol Mirvali, 19, of 39 Humbert Street, was stopped and searched. Police report finding a small tin containing green vegetation believed to be marijuana and a small pipe believed to contain marijuana residue. After being issued a summons charging him with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana, Mirvali was released.

No Higher. Would the Medical Center keep adding layers on top of the garage?

No, Mr. Kauffman replied. If it's necessary to have more parking "five or ten years from now," the hospital would expand on the level.

When board member Martin P. Lombardo asked if hospital employees were using the Borough's new lot on Maclean, off Witherspoon, Mr. Kauffman said he had never heard of it. The new garage, he told the board, is chiefly for visitors and patients. Employees park in the Franklin Avenue lot.

Asked why the Medical Center didn't build a garage on the Franklin lot, Mr. Kauffman said it was too far. Public transportation in Princeton is too "off and on," he told the board.

Mr. Kauffman said the Medical Center obtained, in December of last year, a "certificate of need" for the parking garage from the State Department of Health, good for one year. No hospital can build anything over $100,000 or add new services without one, he explained.

TWO ARE INJURED

in Moped Accidents. As more moped riders take to the road, reports of accidents involving them are beginning to appear in the police accident docket. There were two last week in Princeton.

A moped operated by 17-year old James E. Lesher, 108 Hun Road, and a car operated by Anthony Muscente, Jr. of Lawrenceville, collided Friday morning at Winant and Hun Roads.

Lesher told police that he saw the car turning left into a driveway and thought he was going to stop for him. He sustained minor abrasions and contusions to his lower leg.

Mr. Muscente told police that he had seen the Moped coming and came almost to a stop when the collision occurred. There were no charges by Ptl. David Funk.

Earlier in the week, Thomas L. Brophy Jr., 35, 25 Gulick Road, ran into the side of a car turning left onto Witherspoon from Birch Avenue.

He walked to nearby Princeton Medical Center for treatment of a laceration to a finger of his left hand. The gas tank of his moped was punctured and the front fork bent.

Ptl. Renn Kaminski ticketed the driver, Linda A. Torkelsen, 32, of Stockton for failing to yield after stopping. She told police that she did not see Mr. Brophy.

Charged with Drunk Driving. A 17-year old Ringoes driver was charged with drunken driving and failure to stop at a stop-sign after she was involved in an accident early Sunday morning at the intersection of Elm and Westcott Roads.

Sgt. Thomas Procaccino made the charges against Alison P. Canfield, who allegedly failed to stop for a stop sign on Elm Road and struck the left front of a car driven by H.B. Elmes, 38, 105 Elm.

Mr. Elmes was X-rayed at the Medical Center for a contusion of the head and released. Miss Canfield refused treatment for a bruised hip. A 16-year old passenger in her car was not injured. Her car had to be towed following the 1:12 a.m. accident.

The car of Mary Ann Keller, 44, Southport, Conn., also had to be towed after it ran into the rear of a car while the two were in a heavy lane of traffic Friday morning on Washington Road between Ivy Lane and Faculty Road. She was issued a summons for careless driving.

Mrs. Keller received five sutures for a laceration of her right knee. Her son, Peter, 13, complained of a neck pain. The other driver, Robert J.

Lambert, 38, of Trenton, who told police he saw the Keller car was not going to stop in time but was unable to do anything, escaped injury.

Parked Car Struck. A Skillman resident received a laceration of the face when she was involved in an accident last week at Route 206 and Hillside.

Dorothy Krebs, 63, Westville-Zion Road, was turning left onto 206 a few minutes after 5 Thursday evening, when she saw a car coming north on 206. She continued to turn left, crossed over the south lane, left the roadway and struck a car parked in the Somerset Tire lot.

Mrs. Krebs was given a ticket for careless driving by Ptl. John Clausen.

HONORED FOR 25 YEARS

At University, Princeton University will honor nine members of the non-academic staff on Wednesday at a reception given by President William G. Bowen.

The employees are being recognized for having completed 25 years of service to the University during 1976-77. Each will receive a sterling silver bowl, engraved with the Princeton shield.

Among those to be honored are three Princeton area residents: Ira W. Beecher of 110 Harris Road, Princeton Junction, a technical specialist with the Department of Aerospace and Mechanical Sciences; Hattie S. Black, of 90 Birch Avenue, a secretary with the Afro-American Studies Program; and Marguerite Kovalakides, of 56 Harrison Street, a receipts assistant in Firestone Library.

TOP GRADUATES LISTED

awarded diplomas last Saturday to 203 graduates. Among the graduates, 31 were designated as achieving academic distinction, and among these were the following students from the local area.

From Lawrenceville, Leland Ancier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman M. Ancier; Richard Barlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Barlow Jr.; James G. Lauffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Lauffer; Se-Jin Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boo-Sang Lee; and Pascal Levensohn, son of Mrs. Philip Levensohn.

From Pennington, Daniel Challenger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Challenger.

MORE BICYCLES STOLEN

From Campus. A week ago, after listing the theft of six bicycles in three separate incidents, Chief Michael Carnevale observed that Princeton was "inundated by bike thieves." Nothing has changed.

Last week, four more were stolen from the university campus. Police arrested Alfred R. Penella, 23, and Anthony W. Coleman, 20, both of Somerset and charged them with possession of four stolen bicycles. They were later freed in 10 percent cash of $1,000 bail.

A Princeton resident called police at 10:44 Sunday evening to report that persons were loading bicycles into a camper-type van in the College Road area. The caller supplied police with the license number which was traced to Penella.

An alert was sent to the Franklin Township police

Robert Sinkler, Athletic Trainer, Honored For Three Decades of Service to Princeton

A 32-year veteran of Princeton University's athletic training staff was one of three who received an Alumni Council Award Saturday before some 5,000 alumni, family, and friends who had massed on the University's Clarke Field at the end of the P-rade, Princeton's traditional climax to alumni reunions.

Robert W. Sinkler of 307 Witherspoon Street a member of Princeton's athletic training staff since 1945 was among those cited for his efforts on behalf of the University.

Mr. Sinkler is currently the trainer for the Tigers' 150-pound football, hockey and track teams. He was one of 10 trainers selected to work with the U.S. squad for the 1976 Summer Olympic games in Montreal; the previous fall, he was with the U.S. squad at the Pan American games in Mexico City, where he worked with Greco-Roman freestyle wrestlers and the gymnastics and weight-lifting teams. During the summer months, Mr. Sinkler serves as a recreation director for the town of Princeton.

department and at 12:30 Monday morning police there reported they had the suspects in custody. They were returned to Borough headquarters by Sgt. Thomas Procaccino and Ptl. Bernard Lenhard.

Inside the van were four bicycles, police said, all expensive, light-weight 10-speed models. One was valued at $300. Two were allegedly taken from inside the second entry at Henry Hall, another from Foulke Hall and the fourth from 48 University Place.

Two from School Lot. Township police report that two 10-speed bicycles were

His citation read: "In his tenure of more than 30 years as a trainer in Princeton's Athletic Department, Bobby Sinkler has probably used enough tape to wrap Jadwin Gym three times around. Rolls of tape, the heat lamp, the whirlpool, pills, bandages, and splints - these are the obvious tools of the trainer. Bobby's special skill, however, is less visible. He is concerned as much with the patient's mental state as with his wrist or ankle. He heals with tender loving care. But not always. Those occasional players who are looking for a day off do not find a soft bed on his training table. He is totally dedicated to good health and fighting fitness."

"Bobby is also well known outside the University. During the war, he helped keep the troops in shape as a member of a Medical Ambulance Battalion. For 20 years, he was summer director of Princeton Township's recreational facilities. For three years, he served on the Governor's Recreation Committee...."

stolen between 10:20 and 10:45 in the morning from the John Witherspoon School.

Later, two Trenton juveniles, 14 and 15 were apprehended on Lawrenceville Road in possession of the bikes by Ptl. David Funk. They were turned over to Township juvenile office Anthony Pinelli for processing.

SCHOOL YEAR ENDS

With Light Agenda. No more teachers, no more books -- and not much on the agenda for the last school board meeting of the academic year. There will be no regular board meetings in July and August.

At the meeting, to be held

Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Community Park, the board will introduce several new fiscal management policies for action at a later meeting. The policy on student representation on the school board will be up for action at Tuesday's meeting.

The board is also expected to thank the three "acting" administrators -- Edith Francis in the superintendent's post, Florence Burke as principal of Riverside and Estelle Browne as assistant principal for the high school.

SPECIAL MEETING SET For Health Commission. The Princeton Regional Health Commission will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. this Thursday in Borough Hall.

It will be the first of two or three summer meetings to discuss the report of Dr. Berwyn F. Madison on implementation of the state's new health law requirements. The report was commissioned in March and received by members of the Commission last month.

TELETHON SUNDAY

For United Jewish Appeal. A Telethon will be held Sunday from 10 to 1 for the Princeton United Jewish Appeal. Teams of workers will contact by telephone all supporters of the United Jewish Appeal who have not been able to make their 1977 commitment to UJA.

Through the courtesy of Norman Agin and Math-Tech, a division of Mathematica, teams of workers will operate a bank of telephones Sunday morning. Upwards of 300 people will be called in an operation directed by Melvin Schulman of Snowden Lane.

This year Princeton UJA hopes to increase its contribution to national UJA by more than 20 percent, because social services and immigration in Israel find themselves more in need of funds from Diaspora Jewry.

MILLICENT FENWICK REPORTS

TO THE 5TH DISTRICT OF NEW JERSEY

"BY THE PEOPLE..."

Usually, I write reports from Washington, about Washington, about committees and meetings and thoughts about personalities and issues that are in the news here or strike me as interesting to the District. But this report is different - it's about the District itself.

I went home to the District one weekend lately and spoke at six meetings and saw a great many people in the process. In addition, I have as usual been reading my mail from home and what I want to report to you is the extraordinary force of the people's reaction to the President's energy program.

The letters are running about ten to one in support of the President. Not everyone, even those supporting him, approves of the tax on gasoline; some people do not seem to be convinced that the tax is really a contingency plan, to be invoked only if conservation plans fail. Others feel that any tax should not be returned in a rebate to citizens, but devoted instead to development of alternate sources of energy. But despite disagreement on such details, there is a deep, steady current of approval.

Letter after letter brings the same message:

"I hope you are supporting the President's energy plan."

"It is time someone takes the bull by the horn. I hope Congress does not come with the tail again."

"It is your duty to get behind an issue of vital concern to our great country."

"The one thing people will no longer excuse is sterile and protracted criticism of the President's program ending in no program at all."

"The guy has vision and guts."

"The nation will substantially support a President who truly leads and openly presents the valid reasons generating the necessity for such sacrifices as must be made."

"At this time of crisis, it behooves both parties to rally behind him."

Beyond that, in conversations with individuals, I hear "I wish the President, or the State, would tell us what we ought to do - each one of us, every organization." People want to know what individual efforts they could make to help in the conservation of energy. I get a feeling that they long to enlist in some peaceful and constructive cause, to join what the President has convinced them is a worthwhile, patriotic endeavor, a constructive effort on behalf of the country.

It is really a wonderful thing - a wonder. One feels the extraordinary capacity of human beings for sacrifice. It reminds me of Faulkner's magnificent address to the Swedish King and Parliament when he received the Nobel Prize for literature: "...I believe that man will not merely endure; he will prevail. He is immortal, not because he alone among the creatures has an inexhaustible voice, but because he has a soul, a spirit capable of compassion and sacrifice and endurance..."

The spirit of the Fifth District ratifies Jefferson's belief in the ability of informed people to govern themselves. It makes one proud to represent such a District. So this report is really a tribute to the District, a report from Washington on how the District looks from here.

$8.75; and colorful jars of soaps that look like the most appealing mints, chocolate bonbons and almonds we've ever seen, 35 cents each. Despite the additions, the traditional favorites are still here. There are linen handkerchiefs and fingertip towels; special order down comforters; baby pillows and boudoir cases; wicker shelves and stands for the bathroom; and the French Terrailon scales that accurately report your weight in pounds and kilos, $24.

At the rear of the store, and up a step is the Dining-In area where you'll find tablecloths, mats, napkins, potholders, aprons and many extras. Stone's has always been known for its potholders and once again the choice is most appealing with peapods, watermelon rounds, sunflowers, and gingerbread men heading the list, about $3 to $4.

From Leacock there is a broad choice of easy-care tablecloths in solids or prints, some of which, such as a green and white Dots and Dashes or a Spring-like Flower Basket, have been designed by Oleg Cassini, $18 for a 70-inch round cloth.

Other designs from Leacock include blue and white Waves which has the reverse print along the border (also available in brown and beige,) and the Laura Ashley prints such as Guinevere, a small floral in a choice of colors. There are also placemats and coordinated napkins to go with everything.

Located now at 30 Nassau Street, Stone's Linen Shop is open as usual from 9:30 until 5, Monday through Saturday, so do find a moment to visit this attractive new setting.

PIPES ON DISPLAY

At John David. While there is no need to extol the virtues of a meerschaum pipe to a smoker, non-smokers should become acquainted with these beauties, too, for many are actually small works of art — pure white and intricately carved.

Meerschaum is one of the oldest materials used for pipes, and until the mid-nineteenth century the wealth of an Eastern European was often measured by the size and carving of his pipe. Today the finest meerschaum still comes from a small area of mines in Turkey, and much of the carving is done there also.

Currently, John David Ltd. at the Montgomery Shopping Center has an exhibit of more than 50 of these pipes, including the world's most expensive one. Valued at $8,000, this huge pipe with two flying horsemen surrounding the bowl, is actually more a collector's piece than something to be smoked.

The value of each is determined by the size of the original meerschaum, the detail and authenticity of the carving, and the porosity and lightness of the meerschaum. Generally, the carving is done from a single piece, and large ones such as that needed for the flying horsemen pipe are rare indeed.

Particularly interesting is a pipe with a long shank of lattice carving which ends at a bowl shaped like the head of a bearded European man. The exquisitely detailed carving is lovely, but more impressive is the unbelievable lightness of this large pipe, leaving no doubt in our minds that it was meant to be smoked, $900.

One of the beauties of meerschaum is that it gradually changes color with smoking over the years, starting at a light pink and ending with a golden brown. To aid this process, each pipe is coated with beeswax which is gradually removed if handled. Thus, each pipe must be light if it is to be used so the smoker can hold it easily by the shank only.

Many pipes in this exhibit reflect the traditional carving themes. There are classical ones such as Laughing Bacchus with grapes and leaves coming from a wine cask on his back, and religious ones such as a copy of Michelangelo's Moses, $2500 and $3,000.

There are contemporary ones too, such as Lincoln's head, a smooth proud elk with his head tossed back, and even an abstract one called "Can You Hear Me," $135 to $200.

The exhibit, which will be on display until approximately June 20th, belongs to the distributor of CAO Meerschaum Pipes, and as indicated by the prices, each is for sale.

Always available, however, is a group of smaller meerschaum pipes priced from $20 for a standard-shaped model. While these may not have the size or carving of those in the DISPLAY IS EVERYTHING. Proponents of this marketing axiom will be impressed with the newly designed Stone's Linen Shop which features an unusual jagged wall of display panels, creating an area for each color scheme.

IT'S NEW

NEW HOME FOR STONE'S

At 30 Nassau Street. Marking its 25th anniversary in Princeton, Stone's Linen Shop last week moved a few doors up Nassau Street into a new spacious store. With approximately three times the square footage of the old location, owners, Barbara and Burt Sussman, have been able to add several new lines as well as to display more of their old favorites.

The store itself is extremely handsome. The entire front area is devoted to bed and bath with a marvelous jagged wall of burlap-covered panels fitted with shelves and arched windows so that each color scheme can be displayed individually — and by the way, Stone's now has them all.

There is a full line of Fieldcrest towels, mats, lid-covers, rugs, blankets and sheets. The newest patterns are Pussy Willow in blue or cream; Classic Chromatics, solid sheets in blue, rust, brown or beige, trimmed with a contrasting band of the same toning; and Saturday's Flowers, a multi-colored pattern with green and white dots surrounding big poppies, pansies, roses and daisies, $7.50 to $17.50 for twin to king-sized sheets.

The Martex line of sheets will be here too, and these patterns clearly reflect the concept that sheets can be used for all kinds of decorating projects, not just bedding. The patterns include a Peach Marble, an abstract green and white grass print, the Magical Kingdom of stylized animals and soldiers in rust and deep blue, and a charming wallpaper print of birds and flower vines.

Martex also makes a lovely comforter in solid colors or prints to match the sheets. One side is regular sheeting, but the other is a soft, warm, non-slip velox. This is currently white-sale priced, as is everything else from the Martex and Fieldcrest lines including the electric blankets and Royal Velvet and Luxor towels.

June is wedding month and Stone's has exquisite sheets and towels for the bride. The sheets by Fieldcrest come in white or ecru with either a wide eyelet border or a more tailored embroidered and hemstitched one, $15 to $27. The towels, designed by Smith and Weigler, come in white, banana, blue or rust with wide eyelet or a contemporary braid of contrasting colors, $4 to $11.

Room for More. Also new is Allied's line of brass or chrome bathroom accessories which Mrs. Sussman told us had been requested for years, but never before had there been the space. The line includes towel bars, rings, hooks, soap dishes and cup holders in several styles such as a round colonial or an octagonal contemporary, $5.50 to $17.50.

Padded toilet seats are another addition, and these come in all colors as well as patterned to coordinate with Saturday's Flowers, $20 and $22.

Smaller extras include ceramic boxes from Portugal; Village Bath's Tea Rose collection of soaps, shampoo, lotions and oils; a Hamp Bag that comes in six bright colors, holds 16 pounds of laundry and hangs in a closet,

The exhibit is well worth seeing, and store manager, Brandon Jeanneret, is an excellent guide. He can answer most questions, or if you prefer to read, he recommends "The Book of Pipes and Tobacco" by Carl Ehwa, Jr.

Located at the Montgomery Shopping Center on Route 206 North, John David Ltd. also carries many other pipes, tobacco, cigars and a variety of smoking accessories. The hours are Monday through Saturday from 10 until 6 with Thursday and Friday evening hours until 9.

PEOPLE In The News

Kathy Canavan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence V. Canavan of Rocky Hill and a 1967 graduate of Princeton High School, has been awarded an American Legion National Citation for a news feature series she wrote for a suburban daily in Bucks County, Pa. The winning series was an investigative piece based on Miss Canavan's experience posing as a "Moonie" in cult leader Sun Myung Moon's communes in Manhattan and in Philadelphia.

Earlier this month, Miss Canavan received a first place award for feature writing from the Pennsylvania Women's Press Association for her trend story on prostitution in Bucks County and a Keystone Press Award from the Pennsylvania Newspapers Publishers' Association for a news story on the final day of George Geschwendt's mass murder trial in Bucks County Court.

Miss Canavan also won a Philadelphia Press Association Award for excellence in writing earlier this year. She is a graduate of Murray State University in Kentucky.

Robert S. Holt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philetus H. Holt III of 3472 Lawrenceville Road, a second-year student at Harvard University Graduate School of Design, was awarded first prize of $250 for his design in response to a hypothetical problem posed by the National Institute for Architectural Education which made the award. Each student was asked to design eight houses on a narrow 3.3 acre site with restrictions in Marblehead, Mass. The winning drawings will be on display in New York City in the fall, along with other prize winning designs in NIAE sponsored competitions in other schools.

Mr. Holt is a graduate of Princeton Day School, Class of 1971, and Brown University, Class of 1975. Having worked for two summers for Short and Ford, architects, here, he will be employed this summer with Architectural Resources Cambridge, Inc. in Cambridge, Mass.

Thomas J. McDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McDowell of Bedens Brook Road, Skillman, has been named to the 1977 lifeguard squad of the Ocean City Beach Patrol for the second year.

H. Stephen Farmer, M.D., of 33 State Road, has been appointed by Governor Brendan Byrne to a three year term on the state Noise Council Council. The Council serves in an advisory capacity to the Department of Environmental Protection and has veto power over all types of regulations concerning environmental noise.

Dr. Farmer, an ear, nose and throat specialist, is head of the Otolaryngology Department at Princeton Medical Center. He is a clinical associate professor of surgery at the state College of Medicine and Dentistry and recently was named acting head of the ear, nose and throat section of the medical school.

Two Princeton residents, Anne Macleod, daughter of the Rev. Donald Macleod of 48 Mercer Street and the late Mrs. Macleod, and James Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy of 267 Hamilton Avenue, recently completed tenure on the Long Range Planning Task Force at Lawrence University in Appleton, Wisc. They are graduates of Princeton Day School and Princeton High School, respectively.

Norman Liu, son of Dr. and Mrs. David H.F. Liu of 137 Cherry Hill Road, has been selected to participate in the summer internship program of the State Farm Insurance Companies, Bloomington, Ill. Mr. Liu, who is a junior at Yale University majoring in both economics and engineering, will be an intern with State Farm's corporate research and investment department.

Following the program, Mr. Liu will return to the Yale Medical School, where he recently received a research grant to study the lower esophageal sphincter.

Keith Usiskin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clive Usiskin of 105 Greenway Terrace, and Marc Zinder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Zinder of 40 Main Street, Kingston, have been awarded varsity letters for their performances with the 1977 Cornell University tennis team.

Gov. Byrne and Sculptor Brown

Joe Brown of 31 Edwards Place who talked Princeton University into revamping its boxing program and began as an instructor in boxing 40 years ago will step down this month after 38 years as Princeton's Sculptor in Residence. He retired in 1962 as boxing coach.

The story is legend of how the physical education major at Temple University turned boxer to pay his college expenses; how after nine bouts, all of which he won, he quit boxing and became a model for the sculpture classes at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts; and how the model thought he could do a better job than the students and made his own statue at home which the instructor said was better than those of the art students.

R. Tait McKenzie, physician, professor and head of physical education at the University of Pennsylvania, and by coincidence also a sculptor, was Mr. Brown's mentor, teacher and severe critic for over seven years until his death in 1938. It was he who counseled the young sculptor to "earn a living in something you can respect," which in turn led to Mr. Brown's asking Princeton to restore its boxing program under a new drill system.

Once at Princeton he saw an opportunity to teach more than boxing. He asked Dean of the College Christian Gauss if he could start a practical art program and told him such a program would enliven the curriculum by "proving that not every problem can be solved with words and numbers." The Carnegie Foundation was approached for funds and the program was begun the following year.

Mr. Brown envisioned the program as a sort of "sandlot league in the arts," he recently told an interviewer, where students would need only to exhibit interest to enroll. He was once very angry when the program was described in the catalogue as for the "gifted" Princeton student, and demanded, "Who are we to say whether someone is gifted at age 17 or 18?"

Over the years Mr. Brown has become known for his sports figures, those that are famous and those that typify the sport. Among his subjects are Jesse Owens, Jack Kelly, Arthur Ashe and Bill Bradley. He has executed many of Princeton's athletic trophies as well as the 15 1/2 foot football and baseball players outside Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia.

Notables in other fields have also posed for Mr. Brown, among them Robert Frost, John O'Hara, Norman Thomas, John Steinbeck, Harold Dodds and Governor Brendan Byrne. Mr. Brown will move his work to a studio in Rocky Hill and may have some apprentices next year, and eventually some students. In the 38 years he has been Princeton's sculptor he has refused a private studio, preferring to do his work in the same room with his students.

Prof. Freeman Dyson of 101 Battle Road, a physicist at the Institute for Advanced Study, is one of two scientists to be granted the $35,000 Harvey Prize in science funded by a California industrialist named Leo Harvey through Technion, the Israel Institute of Technology in Haifa, Israel. Prof. Dyson will spend the month of June touring Israel and will give a few lectures at the Institute.

Royce Flippin III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Flippin Jr., 138 FitzRandolph Road, is the freshman recipient of the Rosengarten Award for sportsmanship and performance in cross-country at Princeton University. A graduate of Princeton High School last year, Flippin consistently finished among the team's top five runners. His father is the university's Director of Athletics.

A freshman pitcher on the Babson College baseball team, Kent Godfrey compiled a 2-3 record his rookie season—one of two Babson pitchers to win as many as two games. He is a graduate of Montgomery High School in Skillman.

Thoughts on Low-Cost Housing

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Mr. Geddes' design for the proposed low-income apartments for elderly Princeton residents (TOWN TOPICS, June 1) is both attractive and practical, tying many different elements into a unified, coherent enclave.

It is too bad that the parking problem has acquired such a high priority. We can imagine nothing more defeating to Mr. Geddes' efforts than a monstrous parking garage on the Public Library parking lot. At best, such a building would be an egg-crate; at worst, it would generate noise and noxious fumes, and constitute an ever-present fire hazard.

We are wondering how the Princeton community feels about adding even more traffic bottlenecks to the Witherspoon Street - Palmer Square area in the form of a parking garage. Have alternate solutions been explored — such as "edge-of-town" park-and-shuttle arrangements, or underground parking? (Kansas City and Boston, among other cities, have successfully used the latter.)

Ideally, PCH would do well to consider turning the parking problem over to Mr. Geddes himself. He is a professional planner, with a good deal of experience in finding solutions to this kind of problem that PCH may not possess.

We also hope that income ceilings for eligibility will continue to be flexible. Many elderly people seek homes of this sort not because of the reasonable rentals alone, but because they are physically unable to cope with caring for a house and yard. To be turned down because their income might be a few hundred dollars over an arbitrary ceiling would be ironic. We hope that each case may be considered according to the needs of the individual or couple involved.

Finally, we hope that the interior planning of the apartments themselves will be appropriate for older people. We have seen accommodations for the elderly where the icecube trays in the refrigerator were at floor level, and closet-cupboard shelves were too high even for Wilt Chamberlain to reach!

DNA Minority View Backed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I agree with the Minority Report of the Princeton Community Biohazards Committee and applaud not only the careful intelligence of its substance but also the courage and conscientiousness of its signers — particularly in face of the overwhelming bias of the technological society in which we live.

Three basic realities are addressed in the Minority Report: the safety of the community; the welfare of our society; and the due process of democracy itself. I take them up in order:

1. SAFETY. The monitoring of DNA experiments by outsiders is for all practical purposes impossible; and if this monitoring was carried out completely and conscientiously it would inhibit the work done — a vast waste of effort on the part of all concerned.

On the other hand, if the University monitors its own work, the community is faced not with dishonesty on the part of the experimenters as with the attitude of many biologists of derision toward the general public that would seek to control them in their scientific work. They could hardly care less about the guidelines of the National Institutes of Health (NIH).

In the current issue of "Smithsonian" (June 1977), the magazine of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, a young science reporter tells of her 95 days working in the DNA laboratory of the University of California at San Francisco. Her entry in her diary for the seventy-first day (page 62) reads as follows:

"The high containment (P3) lab upstairs was shut down by the university's biohazard committee for a few days this week. I was dismayed to hear people joking about the closure and the messy conditions that precipitated it. Among the young graduate students and post doctorates it seemed almost chic not to know the NIH guidelines."

2. WELFARE. The Community Biohazards Committee, over a three months span, spent its time struggling with the sometimes intricate distinctions of physical and biological containment. When questions arose of genetic engineering, of disturbance to the life of this planet, or of the ultimate morality of wrenching living processes to our immediate ends, they were recognized as requiring a great deal of time, and they were put aside in favor of more pressing technicalities. Many of those who signed the Majority Report were no less anxious than the members of the Minority to pursue these matters, but the time for the consideration of them ran out. These questions, which ultimately are the most important ones, were not taken up — just as they were not taken up by the University's own biohazards committee.

3. DUE PROCESS. What is our unseemly haste? It took months for most of the Committee members to understand the intricacies of the problem itself. The general public, and this is above all a public issue, is not yet, I do believe, in command of the pertinent facts. Must this question of recombinant DNA research be decided immediately?

The Community Committee had hardly begun its work when the University received permission from the Planning Board to go ahead with the new laboratory on William Street. Then before the Community Report was made public the University asked for permission to begin research on the P1 and P2 levels of containment.

It is morally reprehensible that the University should try to present this community with a foregone conclusion and should so callously violate the tacit agreement with the Community Committee — more than three months of careful and extremely time-consuming work made almost a travesty, a sham. Those in the University administration responsible for this sly approach should be ashamed of themselves.

Therefore, I ask the governing bodies of the two Princetons to declare a moratorium on all recombinant DNA research in this area. We all need more time to reconsider these important questions.

THE AUXILIARY

Medical Center at Princeton

The Medical Center serves three counties, and 17 townships with 83 percent of its users coming from outside Princeton. Recent growth and the requirements of Federal and State agencies for modernization have mandated physical expansion and improvements to the Center. As its share, the Auxiliary has pledged to raise $500,000 towards the Building Fund through 1979.

Serving primarily as a fund raising arm of the Medical Center at Princeton, the Auxiliary joins and coordinates the activities of inservice volunteers, Doctors' Wives and Community Outreach. It also awards Health Career scholarships for students and raises funds.

Inservice Volunteers

An average of 400 volunteers give more than 45,000 hours each year to assist the staff at the three facilities of the Medical Center: Princeton Hospital (general medical - surgical unit), Merwick (extended care and rehabilitation unit), and Princeton House (psychiatric care unit). These inservice volunteers - men, women and teenagers give three or more hours a week of their time and are an integral part of the total health care program at the Medical Center.

Many Departments depend on these regularly scheduled volunteers including Physical Therapy, Dietary, Pharmacy, Nursing, Medical Records and the Development Office. Volunteers are responsible for staffing the Information Desk and Gift Shop, and assist in the Coffee Shop. There is always a need for new volunteers but it is especially important during the summer months. For further information, contact Debbie Livingston, Director of Volunteer Services at 921-7000, ext. 235.

Fund Raising

How has the Auxiliary been working to meet its pledge of $500,000 towards the Building Fund?

PRINCETON FETE: The 24th Annual Princeton Fete takes place this year on June 11. This is the largest and best known source of monies for the Auxiliary. Last year an estimated 45,000 people spent the day on Washington Road Field playing games, sampling food, bidding at the all day Auction and buying at the Lane of Shops and Garden Tent. Over $70,000 was raised.

Come June 11 with family and friends to the Royal Fete. Co-chairmen Susan Blair and Jerry Reed and their 22 committees have worked for the past year with one goal in mind - a day of fun to help the Auxiliary fulfill its goal.

RUMMAGE SALE: A two-way street in fundraising is provided by the annual Fall Rummage Sale. Here is an opportunity to donate all the unwanted clothes, toys, jewelry and household items found during Fall clean up. Help is always needed and summer storage is available. Ruth Crowley 924-2894 and Rosalie Corsano 359-6755 will be glad to tell you more about this event, which last year netted $7,500.

CHRISTMAS BOUTIQUE: The Christmas Boutique provides three days of early bird Christmas Shopping and approximately $30,000 for the Building Fund. Held annually during Election week in November at the Nassau Inn, the Boutique offers unique shops as well as the Auxiliary's own corner which features decorations, gourmet foods and the famous relish from the Cranbury chapter. It is an exciting event and combines an opportunity for volunteers to meet new friends and serve the community as well. Patsy van Dusen and Jane Dennison are 1977 co-chairmen.

Will You Join Us?

Members have no obligation to volunteer their time or services but your $3 dues support our yearly student scholarship awards to Junior volunteers entering the Health Care Field. You will also receive a newsletter and invitation to the annual luncheon as well as the opportunity to join in the above mentioned activities if you wish. Call Anne Cobb 924-2905.

BOOKLET AVAILABLE

By League on Housing. How should Princeton develop once the building moratorium is lifted?

A new booklet, "Spotlight on Housing," published by the Princeton Area League of Women Voters, presents data on Princeton's housing history and its present and future housing needs in an effort to allow a reader to reach a conclusion on this question.

Prepared by the League's Housing Committee, the booklet centers primarily on the history and need for lower cost housing in Princeton; what the lack of it has meant to the demographics of Princeton's population, both borough and township; and a case study of the Princeton Community Housing, Inc.

The booklet also explores how the elderly, the young, those affected by racial or economic pressure, and those working for Princeton's public and private employers, fare in today's market. Two recent studies are cited in this discussion. State laws and court decisions affecting housing and zoning, as well as a bibliography and statistical appendices, are included.

Laura Goldfeld, head of the League's housing committee, and Harriet Bryan, current president of the local League of Women Voters and former member of the Princeton Zoning Board and co-chairman of the Housing Committee, are editors of the booklet. Copies are available free at the Public Library on Witherspoon Street; the Civil Rights Commission of Princeton, 4 Green Street, or by calling Mrs. Goldfeld at 921-2820.

Former Township Mayor James Floyd Returns to Princeton—And Finds a Number of Problems with a Familiar Appearance

BACK HOME AGAIN: Back in Princeton only a month or so, former Township mayor James A. Floyd is already beginning to make his voice heard. He was the Township's first black Committee member, first Democratic mayor, first black mayor. But he says he won't be back into politics for a while.

"He may be back."

That was the last sentence in a TOWN TOPICS story in November, 1972, describing a farewell party honoring former Township Mayor James A. Floyd who was moving to Cleveland.

And of course, he has come back.

Whether he'll get back into the Township Democratic swirl and run for office again, is still a question. But with Jim and Frannie Floyd, there is never a question about community involvement and the former mayor is already making his opinions known about this and that.

He has returned to Princeton as a kind of Horatio Alger. It was in 1944 out of West Virginia State, that he started work with the old Joseph Stokes Rubber Company in Trenton as a detail draftsman. The company did custom moulding of hard rubber—battery casings. He is coming back as general manager of the Stokes Molded Products Division of ESB (Electric Storage Battery), the successor company to Stokes Rubber, with plants in Trenton and in Clark, N.J.

"I was born three blocks from the Trenton plant!" he says with a grin.

Climbing the Ladder. In between, he went up the corporate ladder, and in 1972 was sent to Cleveland as director of employee relations for the company's Automotive Group.

But the Floyds kept their Princeton ties. (Mrs Floyd was born in Princeton and her family still lives here) didn't sell the 64 Harris Road house, and watched from a distance as the Princeton community went through its usual agonizing crises.

"Keeping Princeton PRINCETON" — they were saying that when I was mayor and they're saying it still, I see," and his chuckle has something of an edge.

"We heard it when we were trying to get a swimming pool built in Community Park, and people were saying in horror that all those HORDES would descend on us! Well...."

"And now! I see the site plan folk approved a hospital parking garage by 6-0 with two abstentions. Now, looking ahead to 770 cars is hardly 'keeping Princeton Princeton.'" I look at the birth list: it seems as though 90 percent of the babies born in that hospital live outside Princeton, although I understand of course, this is beyond the hospital's control.

"But it seems so inconsistent with environmental thinking and housing need to tear down houses to build a parking garage! I guess it's a matter of supply and demand: pay the owners enough, they'll sell. And of course, it's so inconsistent with the neighborhood."

A Troubling Paradox. The Floyds' Harris Road house is not far from the Medical Center.

"I am absolutely appalled to read that people living here in Princeton can't get Medicaid service if they need it. To me, it is just inconceivable when we enlist everybody in town to help with the Hospital Fete — and this is a big thing for many older black women in the community — that perhaps some black woman would be denied the services of a doctor because she's on Medicaid. I'd hate to think that could happen."

"Housing!" and Mayor Floyd takes his pipe out of his mouth so he can throw back his head and get a better laugh.

"Things haven't changed — we study that darned thing to death. But housing is still an out-and-out struggle for survival. Why, when I left four and a half years ago, we were studying it."

"I remember when I was living in the Borough in the 1950s, and (former mayor) Ray Male had appointed me to the zoning board, I was up in that gable of the old Borough Hall with (former engineer) Russ Riker, and he had a housing study."

"I remember it very well, that study — it indicated the extent of need, projected the growth of the community and advocated an income mix!"

Praise for PCH. "But there are nice things you come back to — people who have persevered, who are willing to express themselves and will stay with it. I only hope we don't run out of the land that's available."

"I do want to say I think they've done a tremendous thing in Princeton Community Village, and I certainly do commend the University for what they're going to do in the center of town. Rehabilitating old buildings to make apartments, and selling that parking lot to Princeton Community Housing is really fine."

"There are very dedicated folk and institutions in PCH. It's getting fine people on board, that you get these things done."

Will Jim Floyd, feisty as ever, get back into local political life?

"Well, the decisions now being made seem contrary to what I'd think is good for the town and the people, so I don't know.... Before, I thought a concern for the community existed and I could express my own concerns through the political avenue. I felt I reflected the thinking of others. If I feel the need again for that expression, I wouldn't categorically say 'no' to politics."

Action in Cleveland. In Cleveland, Mr. Floyd was on the board of two organizations. One, the Garden Valley Neighborhood Center in the core of Cleveland's inner city, he describes as a "rallying point for folk living in sub-standard housing, with landlords who paid no attention."

The Center advised tenants of their rights, provided nutrition courses, served everyone from Head Starters through to the elderly.

"They organized their own co-operative, the tenants asked the city of Cleveland to put a branch library in the center. The people had something to rally around, and that was important. They could help set policy themselves."

The other agency, Crisis Intervention, was a face-to-face hot line for which Mr. Floyd wrote the personnel policy — and then stayed "to stick my nose in a lot of other things."

"Wherever you go, it's a process of relating to people. Unless one does that, how can one live a productive life anywhere?"

The benefit will be held Sunday, June 19 at the Prince Twin II Theatre. An after-theatre party at Princeton Inn College will feature Mr. Benchley and film-maker Stanton Waterman, who will show "The Making of 'The Deep'" and describe the filming of the film. SUMMER CINEMA

With Intime, "Something for everyone," says film buff Geoffrey Rich, who is also Summer Intime's producer.

"As a kid, I was weaned on the late-late show and we've got a movie collage here that runs the gamut from the silent greats to Astaire and Rogers to Woody Allen."

"Cinema Intime" ("least expensive movie house in town in the summer," exults Mr. Rich) will show movies every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday night at 8 p.m. for $1.50 in the air-conditioned art museum on Princeton University's campus.

The 25-film series will start off, however, with a week-end festival. "All About Eve," the Bette Davis-Anne Baxter backstage story, will open the series next Thursday, June 16. On Friday, Cinema Intime will show Buster Keaton's "The General" (that's the Civil War Setting with the train chase) and on Saturday, it will be Peter Sellers, David Niven and Woody Allen in "Casino Royale."

In full swing, the series will show "Top Hat," "On the Waterfront," "Pat and Mike," "Catch-22," "The Hunchback

FILM PLANNED

At Christian Center, "Corrie: Behind the Scenes with 'The Hiding Place,'" a new full-length color release from World Wide Pictures, will be shown at Christian Center of Princeton, 223 North Harrison Street, on Sunday at 6:30.

"The Hiding Place," a true story filmed in Holland and other European locations, is based on the experiences of Corrie ten Boom, who, with her father, sister, and brother, provided refuge for countless Jewish families. A secret room was constructed in their home as a hiding place for the use during Gestapo raids. The ten Boom's activities were discovered, and they were sent to prisons and concentration camps.

FOR CHILDREN

"Magical Faces." Anybody you know who's in grades K-5 is invited to an audience-participation play called "Magical Faces," which will be given in the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing Park, on Saturday, June 25.

It's Creative Theatre's production and they've scheduled a performance for 2 p.m. Admission will be $1.50, but group rates are available and reservations may be made by calling the theatre at 609-737-9721.

"Magical Faces" is a play about a town where smiles and laughs are forbidden. The audience conspires with the actors in a trick to create a happy and smiling town by using masks.

The Performance Troupe of Creative Theatre is funded in part by grants from the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Division, the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

WHY, IT'S HARVEY!

Rabbit Will Return. Street Theatre's major summer production will be Mary Chase's play "Harvey," about a six-foot invisible rabbit. It will be given July 14-16 and 21-22 on Street Theatre's mobile stage at a variety of locations to be announced.

Auditions will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, June 28 and 29 at 1 p.m. at Dorothea House. These auditions will also cover a production of "The Future Adventures of Winnie the Pooh," which will be available to schools and organizations for booking August 1-14.

The season will conclude with "Adaptation," "Next" and "Wandering," by Elaine

May, Terrance McNally and Lanford Wilson, in that order. Auditions for these plays - first performed in New York in 1968 - will be held July 26 and 27 at 7 p.m. at Dorothea House.

"Harvey" opened on Broadway in 1944 and was later filmed with Jimmy Stewart in the role of Elwood P. Dowd, who insists to everyone that his friend is a six-foot-tall rabbit named Harvey.

Information regarding auditions, performances, bookings or summer workshops under Street Theatre's sponsorship, may call Debbie Bellow at 921-8826.

"Trinity Time"

with L. GERSON

In a book with a difficult title, God or Icha-bod? A Non-Violent Christian Nihilism,* C. D. Keyes (a philosopher, theologian, and Episcopal priest) has this to say:

*There is now more than one type of nihilism. * One type of nihilist is a cynic, and the other is a poet. The cynic performs nihilistic type acts of varying degrees of violence like punching little holes in the sinking life-boat.*

But the poet embraces the depths in order to create beauty. The cynic turns to violence because he cannot accept the annihilation or even speak about it. But the poet accepts the nude truth and turns it into a song.

And he adds:

Instead of punching more holes in the boat, the poet already understands more of nihilism than his fellow passengers, and he turns his grief into our consolation: "What is a poet? An unhappy man who in his heart harbors a deep anguish, but whose lips are so fashioned that the moans and cries which pass over them are transformed into ravishing music."

All sinking lifeboats need a poetic nihilist on board. They need someone who has thought drowning through and can still sing ravishing music. Courage comes from such music, for the poetic nihilist is none other than Dionysus himself, mankind suffering as an individual.

Charles Keyes has brought to our attention the difference between trudging through life and living triumphantly. Are you punching holes or fashioning a song?

*Published by Forward Movement Publications

"This experience of meaningless in the absurd I will call nihilism."

a workshop in technical theatre. Julie Denney will explore improvisation and the Actor the week of July 11.

Bruce Turner of the Princeton Opera Association will present a workshop on voice starting July 18, and on July 25, Susan Doskocie of the YWCA, will lead a workshop in Theatrical Dance. The season will conclude with a workshop on theatrical make-up, given by Cher Carden.

"PAINT YOUR WAGON"

In Open Air Theatre. The Lerner-Loewe 1951 musical, "Paint Your Wagon" -- that's the one about California and gold-fever -- will open the 1977 season in the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing, next Thursday, June 16.

It will play Friday and Saturday also, and again June 23, 24 and 25. Sunday evenings, June 19 and 26, are the rain dates.

The production comes from the Neshaminy Players, a group of students, alumni and parents affiliated with Neshaminy Langhorne High School, under the direction of Theodore Kloos.

Unfortunately, when Pennsylvania schools were closed last winter during the energy crisis, Neshaminy Langhorne lost three days, and graduation is the same night as the opening night of "Paint Your Wagon." In true "show-must-go-on" tradition, the musical will indeed open on June 16, but understudies will be in some of the leading roles.

And for that one night, it will be a thin orchestra: band members will be playing the one about California and "Pomp and Circumstance" somewhere else.

The full cast will be back for Washington remaining performances. Actors and singers are largely students in theatre arts programs at various colleges, or seniors at the high school.

This is the sixth Open Air Theatre production by the Neshaminy Players. "Paint

Your Wagon" will be followed on June 30 by "Li'l Abner," from another drama group.

GARDEN

Nasty Habits. The Watergate scandal set in a Philadelphia convent and any similarity is hilariously intentional in this satire as a group of nuns resort to buggings, blackmail and cover ups to win a convent election.

Although the satire tends to wear thin after awhile, there is enough witty dialogue, wry ribbing of the Church and State and just unbridled silliness to make the film a crowd pleaser. And what a collection of laugh getters the performers are.

Glenda Jackson, Sandy Dennis, Anne Jackson, Geraldine Page and Anne Meara are super, whether raising their angelic voices in prayer or lowering them in hushed plotting and venomous planning. They smoke, booze and blaspheme between vespers; they're up to their necks in dirty tricks, concealed mikes, breaking and entering and blackmail.

Sister Alexandra, as played by Jackson, is a divine creation. Meara as a gum-chewing super jock nun and Dennis as the convent's slow-witted John Dean are fine. It may sound as if it were scripted by the National Lampoon staff but it is delightful, irreverent company, nonetheless.

Picnickers on July 4th Weekend Invited to Outdoor Pops Concert

An outdoor Pops Concert on Sunday evening, July 3, played by the full 80-member New Jersey Symphony Orchestra in a "bring-your-own-picnic" setting, could be just the excuse that turnpike-weary travelers need to stay close to home over the long Fourth of July weekend.

The Princeton Pops Concert Committee, calling the evening of musical fireworks "a 'first' for the Glorious Fourth weekend," hopes that families and friends will pack a picnic supper and bring blankets to spread out on the Princeton University playing fields just east of Palmer Stadium and Jadwin Gym. Picnicking begins anytime after 5:30; the music starts at 7 and will run continuously until about 8:30. Conducting the New Jersey Symphony will be Thomas Michalak, the newly appointed music director.

Flyers with full details are being distributed this week, and tickets may be ordered by mail from the YWCA at Paul Robeson Place. Tickets may also be purchased directly at the YWCA office beginning Monday, weekdays from 10 until 2. Further ticket information and additional ticket outlets will be announced shortly.

Planned to benefit area youth services, the Pops Concert is sponsored by the Princeton chapter of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra League, the Youth Fund and by the YWCA's Bates Scholarship Fund, in association with the Arts Council. Tickets are priced at $4 for adults, $2 for students and senior citizens, and $1 for persons under 18. In case of rain, the concert will be played in Jadwin Gym.

WEEK OF RECITALS SET

At Choir College. Master recitals, classes and workshops will be held at Westminster Choir College during the week of the summer session at the College, and Dalton Baldwin, the world-renowned accompanist, have put together a festival of international artists including Pierre Bernac, Gerard Souzav, Elly Ameling, Jessye Norman, Paul Sperry, William Parker, and Halldor Hansen. Each is a specialist in his field, and each will give a recital on consecutive evenings at 8 in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster Campus.

Jessye Norman, soprano, will open the Festival with a recital of songs by Schumann (including Liederkreis), Satie, Duparc and Spirituals on Sunday night. Tschaiakowsky, Poulenc and songs by American composers will be on tenor Paul Sperry's program Monday night. Gerard Souzav's baritone recital will take place on Wednesday evening when he will present early Italian songs, songs by Schubert, Poulenc, Faure and Strauss.

Schubert's "Winterreise" will be on the program of recitalist William Parker, baritone, on Thursday evening. Parker is a graduate of Princeton University and got his first professional experience in the U.S. Army Chorus, where he quickly emerged as a soloist. The Dutch soprano, Elly Ameling, will be the final recitalist and will sing songs by Mozart, Martin, Mussorgsky and Strauss on Thursday night.

The public may attend the evening performances on a first come, first served basis. Space is limited, but tickets are available at $5 at the door for each recital. No advance reservations will be made.

CHANGE IN NAME

For Choir College Division. Westminster Choir College has changed the name of its non-college division from the "Preparatory Department" to "Conservatory Division. Louise Cheadle will continue as director of the Division.

"Preparatory Department," said Mrs. Cheadle, "has never really adequately described what we are. The word 'Conservatory'—meaning a 'school of art, especially music'—defines us as a music school, which in this case is a music school division associated with a college of music.

"The Conservatory Division is open to all, beginners and artist - students alike. We are a school for aspiring Suzuki violinists, age four, to grandmothers of 74 and up, all under the aegis of the College. Our teachers are the best of professionals and are performing artists themselves.

"Through our comprehensive program of music lessons combined with theory classes and performances opportunities, we offer the Princeton community a continuing program unavailable through study with a private teacher alone. A student in the Conservatory Division may or may not receive non-college credit for his work," Mrs. Cheadle said.

For the first time a piano ensemble course will be offered. Duo-piano and piano-four-hands will be taught by Mrs. Cheadle herself to students of an intermediate level of study after an audition.

Other new offerings will include an orchestra which will be made up of Conservatory and College students, faculty and a few from the community at large. Auditions will be required and the conductor will be announced.

JAZZ CONCERT PLANNED

To Benefit Eye Research. George Shearing, noted blind jazz pianist, and his quintet will give a jazz concert to benefit the Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation at Rider College Fine Arts Theater, Route 206, Lawrenceville, on June 25 at 8. Tickets are $15 per person, tax deductible.

George Shearing was born in London, blind from birth, and the youngest of nine children. He discovered his musical talent when he found he could duplicate the tunes from the family crystal set on the piano. His keyboard reputation flourished through engagements in London supperclubs and as a popular guest on the BBC.

After World War II, Shearing moved to the United States, where his popularity and where respect for his talent and musical genius in the classical jazz field have grown over the years. Within the last few months, Shearing has appeared at the Carlisle in New York City and on the Mike Douglas show, in addition to 22 concerts in the west and northwest. The benefit for retinitis pigmentosa will be one of his first concerts after three weeks in Europe.

The concert will benefit many who are losing their sight from retinitis pigmentosa and allied diseases. These degenerative diseases of the retina are hereditary and affect 500,000 people in this country alone—and there is no known treatment or cure. The Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation coordinates and supports a broad range of research both nationally and internationally to develop a cure.

The Foundation is also committed to enhancing the lives of those persons already afflicted. For information about the concert and the Foundation, call or write RP Foundation, 12 Nassau Street, 924-8034.

ART
In Princeton

BOOK DESIGN TRACED
In Exhibit at Art for Art.
The term "art nouveau" has been used to describe a style that was dominant in art, architecture and the decorative arts at the end of the 19th century. It was also known as the "Jugendstil," "le style metro," "yachting style," "floral style" and "le style nouille" (noodle) with the nomenclature frequently employed as a form of derision as well as description.
Art nouveau represented a radical conceptual break with the traditional modes of the period. The academic historical style was rejected. Mannered elegance and elaborate ornamentation replaced the slavish naturalism that was a hallmark of the period.
One of the elements which separated "art nouveau" from earlier movements was the desire of those involved to remove distinctions between the various arts and develop a common aesthetic to embrace all arts and crafts. The separation between major and minor arts was removed and replaced with the desire to create beautiful art everywhere.

Book design was one of the disciplines that benefitted from this new focus on universal beautification. Bindings, covers, illustration and typography became the visual beneficiaries of the "nouveau" outreach together with graphics, furniture styling, architecture, wallpaper design and dozens of other formerly humdrum facets of everyday life. Publishers commissioned artists to design elaborate type borders and illustrations which were frequently produced in high-quality limited editions.

A Name Well Remembered.
One of the best-known illustrators and designers of the "art nouveau" era was Aubrey Beardsley. Within the limits of a short life, he produced sufficient work of high quality to make his the name most often remembered when book illustration of this time is considered.

The plates from the Beardsley version of Sir Thomas Malory's "Le Morte Darthur," created for the Dent edition, can be seen at the Eye for Art. This book represents Beardsley's first major work. It is, in many ways, typical of his style but was created before he became concerned with the exotic and the dissolute and maintains a loftier and more wholesome aspect than his later work.

It does, however, embody the same serpentine line which creates elaborate pattern and striking optical effects through the manipulation of positive and negative space. Graceful black lines converge in heavily ornamented calligraphy and complex illustration. Patterns merge to become larger forms and white shapes emerge from the papers surface to dominate the design.

The influence of medieval forms is present together with stylistic overtones of Beardsley's mentor, Sir Edward Burne-Jones. Elaborate renditions of Morgan leFay, Sir Tristram, Merlin and others equally romantic are complemented by ornate borders and calligraphy wrought from flowers, leaves and other rhythmic nature forms.

The Dent edition of "Le Morte Darthur" was created by Beardsley when he was 19 years old, seven years prior to his death. The book was printed in a limited edition of 1500 copies of which few remain. It is considered a significant example of the art and the books of the period and is frequently cited.

At the University Art Museum. Although we often pass the corner of Nassau Street and Bayard Lane, the Princeton Battle Monument, like many other commemorative pieces of similar nature, appears as part of the landscape rather than a work of art. Whether it is familiarity or the nature of the work that creates this void, it is the common fate of much of the statuary created in the early part of this century to celebrate heroes and heroism.

Frederick MacMonnies, the designer of this heroic monument, is the subject of an exhibition at the Art Museum. MacMonnies was also responsible for major works in important locations throughout the country. One of the last Beaux Arts-trained American sculptors, he created Nathan Hale for City Hall Park in New York and the fountains at the New York Public Library, as well as other works in parks and plazas.

The slick, highly-finished style that was developed by the French Academy and popular at the time of MacMonnies' success would be difficult to appreciate today if it were not for the sketches and small studies of larger works that are included in the display. The artist's dynamism and sensitivity, obscured by highly-crafted surfaces of the finished statuary, is very much present in the sketches and smaller works.

The sculpture and background material is interestingly displayed. Actual works and casts of maquettes are accompanied by dramatic photographs of many of the monuments. Preliminary sketches

Works from the collection of Robert M. Walker can be seen in the Prints and Drawings gallery. This small but choice display includes graphics in a variety of media that traverse the history of printmaking. Etchings, woodcuts and engravings begin with a 16th century Flemish work and span the centuries to include Durer, Rembrandt, Gauguin, Klee, Braque and Picasso, as well as others, equally notable. There is great stylistic as well as technical range. Cubist, impressionist and expressionist prints accompany early religious works and sensitive realism.

I BET

Here's a surprise ... While everybody knows that Hank Aaron hit more home runs than anyone else in big league baseball history, it's a surprising fact that 8 other players averaged more homers per-times-at-bat over a career than Aaron did ... Aaron averaged one homer every 16.38 times up ... Babe Ruth had one home run every 11.76 times up ... Ralph Kiner ranks second with a homer every 14.11 times at bat ... Then come Harmon Killebrew (14.22), Ted Williams (14.79), Mickey Mantle (15.12), Jimmy Foxx (15.23), Hank Greenberg (15.69) and Lou Gehrig, who averaged one home run every 16.23 times up.

Did you know that no golfer so far has ever shot better than a 60 on an 18-hole round in any official tournament on the pro golf tour ... Someday, surely someone will break 60 on the tour, and it'll be interesting to see who's the first to do it.

Here's an oddity ... Of the 163 men in baseball's Hall of Fame, only 5 were third basemen ... There are far fewer third basemen in the Hall of Fame than players from any other position.

I bet you didn't know that many health insurance plans, including Blue Cross-Blue Shield, do not cover children after they are 19 years old. Give us a call. We'll explain it to you.

Jim Higgins, Coach at Colgate, Chosen to Lead Princeton Hockey Up from Long Years of Defeat

Hockey at Princeton head coach at Falmouth, his University, which has had teams lost only one regular-season game and won at a 34-4-1 clip.

Higgins, who has been in the winter, has broken into print during the off-season with the appointment of a new coach. It matters not that most of those who go faithfully to Baker Rink in losing years are probably unaware of his name. What counts are the credentials he brings to the job here, and the degree of promise they hold for the future.

The new man is Jim Higgins, who will come here from Colgate, where in two brief years he improved markedly on a program that had been floundering — much as the one at Princeton has for several seasons. The year before he took charge of the Red Raiders, they were 5-17. In his first winter there, they moved up to 9-16 and last season, the record was 12-16.

One notch on either side of the Colgate record last winter belongs to Princeton. The Tigers lost to Higgins' team in their first meeting, 6-4, but won later in a rematch during the Syracuse Invitational, 3 to 2. That triumph and a pair over Yale were all the Orange and Black managed during a 3-21-1 season. That record on top of three others far below .500 prompted Coach Jack Semler to accept an appointment at the University of Maine, which is moving into hockey at the intercollegiate level for the first time.

Higgins has been distinctly successful in coaching eastern schoolboy and college hockey since graduating from Boston University in 1963. He played for the Terriers, a perennial leader in the sport, during his undergraduate years and began his coaching career at Falmouth High School in Massachusetts after three years in the Army Medical Corps. In three seasons as Dartmouth Next. His next stop was Hanover, N.H., where he coached the Dartmouth freshmen for four years, compiling a record of 52-17-2 against a blend of good school teams and some of the top freshman sextets in New England. In 1973, his sextet won all but one of 18 games.

A single year at Brown as an assistant coach preceded another team that lost to the Tigers, 5 to 3.

Of the Raiders' 10 victories last winter in ECAC Division I play, two were at the expense of Boston University and New Hampshire, teams which placed third and fourth in the NCAA Tournament in March. The mark of 10 victories was the highest recorded at Colgate since the divisional arrangement was launched by the ECAC a dozen years ago.

Royce Flippin, Princeton's Director of Athletics, comments that Higgins "has demonstrated at Colgate the qualities necessary to rebuild and rekindle interest in a hockey program. He has impressed us with his ability to work effectively with students, administrators and alumni."

Good Technical Knowledge. Flippin goes on to say that Higgins "has a very fine reputation for producing technically competent and highly motivated teams. We feel that he brings to Princeton hockey qualities which will make our program a more successful and satisfying experience for the students. In this effort, he will get all possible support from the athletic department and the entire University community as he assumes his new responsibilities."

Higgins was selected over four or five other finalists in the University's search for a new coach, one of whom was the controversial Ned Harkness, now at Union. In bypassing Harkness for Higgins, Princeton has a new man who is almost 20 years younger and appears better suited to fit into the low-key aura the sport engenders here.

When he takes over his duties next fall, Higgins will set his sights on a goal that has eluded his predecessors for a full decade. It was in 1967-68 that a Tiger team last topped the .500 mark; in fact, that 13-10-1 record stands as the lone winning season in the sport here in the last 17 years.

varsity here in 1963 and '64. He was an assistant coach in the sport here before winding up at Ithaca, where his rejuvenation of Cornell rowing has been rapid and dramatic.

SPORTS In Princeton

TIGERS WIN TWICE

In National Regatta. Plagued by illness and injury during the latter part of the spring, Princeton did not enter an eight-oared shell in the Inter-collegiate Rowing Regatta last week for the first time in more than a decade. Because the Tigers finished second at Syracuse last June, it was a matter of considerable disappointment after the crew's strong showing in April.

There was, however, some cause for satisfaction for Coach Pete Sparhawk when the wind-blown, three-day event on Lake Onondaga came to an end. His four-oared boat with coxswain won its heat on opening day and then triumphed in the finals on Saturday, as did the freshman four with cox. Another varsity four without cox was victorious in its consolation final.

The varsity four with cox won from California-Santa Barbara, Navy, Rutgers, Penn and the Coast Guard Academy, leading the runner-up shell across the finish line by some four lengths. Its time for 2,000 meters, against a head wind, was 7:50.3.

If the Orange and Black was not represented among the eights competing for the national title, it could nonetheless take considerable pleasure from the outcome. Cornell was the victor over Penn by half a length after staging a fine sprint in the last 500 meters, and the Cornell coach is Findley Meislahn, who rowed stroke oar on the

PRINCETON EDGED, 8-7

In Opening Legion Contest. Although it outthit the defending state champion Trenton Schroths by a 2-to-1 margin — 14 to 7 — the Princeton Post 76 team came up one short in the column that counts the most as it lost an 8-7 decision Saturday at Wetzel Field in Trenton in the opening day of the Mercer County American Legion League.

After Princeton had scored a pair of runs in the first and third innings, Keith Phox singling home a run in each spurt, Trenton tied it in the third and then knocked starter Carl Nazzaro out in the fourth with three more. Nazzaro was relieved by Johnny Miller who held Trenton to three hits and one run the rest of the way. Both pitchers were teammates on the Princeton High School team this spring.

Princeton threatened to pull the game out in the ninth. Tom Ferguson led off with a single against reliever John Spiegel and advanced on a sacrifice. Keith Greener followed with another single but centerfielder Joe Joiner threw a strike to catcher Guy Chiarello to nail the sliding Ferguson.

Still needing one run to tie, Princeton loaded the bases when Spiegel walked the next two, but centerfielder Paul Soderman, who had had two hits and driven in one run earlier in the game, struck out to end it.

players, singled home runs for Princeton, while Ferguson had three hits, including a triple. Sam Risoldi had a pair of doubles and drove in one run for Trenton.

Princeton coach Bob Bruschi commented that his team made some mental errors and still needs a lot of conditioning but he praised it for battling back after Trenton had taken an 8-4 lead. He predicted that Princeton "will be there in the end."

Princeton Outslugged. In its second start Sunday, Princeton became involved in a slugfest with Broad Street Bank and dropped a 19-10 decision. In contrast to the one error committed in the opener, the losers were guilty of six this time.

The victors scored in seven of the nine innings, but their big one was the fifth when they pushed eight runs across to take a 15-5 lead. A three-run homer by Paul Anama and a single by Tony Romano driving in two runs highlighted the uprising.

Four of Princeton's 13 hits were doubles by Miller, Soderman, Seagers and Jim LaPlaca. LaPlaca took the loss for Princeton, giving up 20 hits, three each by Mark Widman, Nelson Rivers and Jim Hudik.

Steve Hurlburt, Miller, Ferguson and Seagers all had two hits each for Princeton.

TENNIS PARTY PLANNED

At Morven. The Youth Tennis Foundation will hold its annual fund raising party Saturday, September 17, from 5:30 to 10:30 at Morven. Miles Dumont and Wendy Hopper are co-chairmen, and Governor and Mrs. Byrne have agreed to host the event again at their home.

Committee chairmen planning the event include Toni Besselaar and Nancy Hatfield, steering; Wendy Benchley and Sue Mould, publicity; Connie Fleming, invitations; Judy Rulon-Miller, design and decorations; Allen Stowe and George Vaughn, entertainment and staging; and Anne Humes, YTF liaison.

Proceeds will go to the Youth Tennis Foundation's Scholarship Fund.

START IS NEAR

For Summer Lacrosse. The Princeton Recreation Department will again sponsor a summer lacrosse league under the direction of Hawley Waterman and Bill Worthington.

The senior league will begin next Wednesday, June 15, and continue on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 6 to 8 at Princeton High School. To be eligible, a player must have completed ninth grade. Applications are available at the Recreation Department in the Valley Road School Building and the registration fee ($5 for Princeton residents and $10 for non-residents) includes a team jersey.

In addition, this year there will be a junior program at the high school Tuesday evenings from 6 to 8 for players in grades 6-8. Instruction in lacrosse skills will be stressed.

No registration fee is required for the junior program but it is limited to Princeton residents or those attending Princeton area schools. All players must furnish all equipment.

TURNER SCORES AGAIN

In Long Jump. In the NJSIAA Group Championships held Saturday in New Brunswick, Barry Turner of Princeton High finished fourth in the long jump in the Group 2 state competition with a leap of 20-2.

The event was won by Sparta's Kurt Stebbins, who jumped 21-10. Sparta placed first in the Group 2 team standings with 20 points. PHS finished with three, tying Haddonfield, Shore Regional, New Milford, Manchester, Newark Central and Pequannock for 24th place.

3 REMAIN UNBEATEN
In Business Softball League. After six weeks of action, the Princeton Business Softball League finds itself with only three undefeated teams.

GFDL and McGraw Hill, National Division leaders, continued their winning ways by squeaking out close victories; setting the stage for their crucial double header on June 14. ETS stands alone in the American Division, as previously unbeaten PPF - Forrestal lost its first game of the campaign.

RCA put a scare into GFDL as the teams entered the top of the seventh inning with RCA ahead 6-5. GFDL's Ted Terpstra smacked a home run which tied the score 6-6. RCA could not score in the bottom of the seventh and the teams went into extra innings.

Paced by Bob White's two run home run, GFDL scored four runs in the top of the eighth and went on to defeat RCA 10-7 and remain in first place with a 6-0 record.

Russ Sinclair won his fifth game on the mound and supplied some offensive punch with a three for four night at the plate. In addition to his key home run, Bob White stroked two doubles and a single in going four for four. GFDL pulled off four double plays in displaying fine defensive support for Sinclair.

Bob Warrington and Mickey Mantel clouted home runs for McGraw Hill which jumped off to an 8-0 lead after 3½ innings and all appearances of another McGraw Hill rout were present.

However, Mathematica chipped away at the lead scoring four runs in the bottom of the fourth behind a Dave Kershaw three-run home run and another three runs in the bottom of the sixth. Pete Coleman drove in two of the runs with a key base hit. Ahead 8-7 going into the seventh inning, McGraw Hill added three insurance runs and held off Mathematica by a score of 11-8.

Mathematica's Tony Montervino stroked three hits in four times at bat. Chet Rue was the winning pitcher. McGraw Hill increased their perfect record to 5-0 with the victory.

ERC climbed past RCA in the standing with a 13-6 victory over still winless Princeton Applied Research. Dave Duhaque continued his torrid hitting with another four for four evening and is eight for eight in his last two outings. Additional offensive support was provided by Colin Peterson who was three for four. Bob Heinz won his second game on the mound.

FMC got back on the winning path with a narrow 10-9 victory over previously undefeated PPL - Forrestal. Bob Kasubinski's three-run homer and Bill Poinsett's perfect three for three provided the offensive support. Winning pitcher Dave Jones (4-1) received some excellent defensive efforts from first baseman Bob Brandt and outfielder Bill Eggers.

ETS flexed their muscles behind home runs by Nick Chantese and John Rascosin. They breezed by American Cyanamid 30-9. Bones Gilbert won his fifth consecutive game of the season. ETS remains as the only undefeated team in the American Division.

Firmenich's Bill Swanhart (3-3) hit two home runs and Ray Faulkner (3-4) added another as Firmenich defeated Squibb 12-6. Bill Daunis raised his record to 3-1 with the victory. Squibb's Jerry Kabarah hit a home run in a 4 for 4 effort.

EMR won its first game of the year, defeating winless New Jersey Bell 10-8. A fine team effort provided winning pitcher Tom Flanagan with his first victory of the season.

HUN BOWS IN FINALE

To Lawrence, 7-4. A loss is never fitting. But Hun's 7-4 setback to Lawrence High in its final game of the season last week was yet another illustration of the kind of year its been for the Red and Black nine.

The defeat was the 14th for Hun, which was struggling all year. The pieces never fell in place for coach Bill McQuade. Forced to start a number of young, inexperienced players at key positions, McQuade had hoped at the beginning of the campaign that the pitching would buy some time for the talent to develop.

He needed a stopper like durable Ernie Barbiero who won eight games for Hun the year before. He didn't have one. As a result, Hun gave up too many runs to the stronger teams.

And, there were mistakes in the field. "Too many mental errors, was a phrase," McQuade kept repeating. Ironically, this spring was the first that Hun had gone to Florida for a week of pre-season practice.

McQuade has chalked up the 9-14 record this year - his first losing season at Hun in six - as a learning experience, but he doesn't expect to make it two in a row: he has too much material coming back for that.

Against Lawrence (11-9), after Hun pitcher Tom Dillione had given up a single run in the second, he walked two and issued a single to Keith Jaeger in the third to load the bases. Designated hitter Matt Sabisky followed with a grand slam and the Cardinals had all the runs they needed.

Hun finally got to winning pitcher Ron Buchanan in the fifth. After walks to Angelo Barbero, Tony Bevilacqua and Rocky DaBronzo jammed the bases, Jim Cortina squeezed home one run on a bunt and another scored when Cardinal catcher Dave Rue made an error on the play.

In the next inning, Hun added two more when Dillione doubled home Dave Dudeck who had singled and later scored on a sacrifice bunt. Lawrence, however, picked up insurance runs in the same two innings to stay ahead.

Dillione took the loss, his fifth in seven decisions, while Buchanan evened his record at 1-1.

WINNERS LISTED

ROUND ROBINS PLANNED

For Men and Women. Beginning June 6, the Princeton Indoor Tennis Center will initiate a new program: round robin evening tennis leagues for men and women—singles only.

There will be two five-week sessions, each consisting of two divisions with six players. Every player will play 1½ hours per week against a different opponent. The winner and runner-up in each division will qualify for the finals in September. Finals will be a single elimination tournament with a field of eight.

The first session will run through July 7; the second from July 18 to August 18.

For further information, call the Princeton Indoor Center at 924-0015.

He will be assisted by Brad Maswell, assistant tennis coach at Lawrenceville; Dan Thompson, a member of the Iverford College team and Fred Fagerstrom, former member of the Princeton University team.

Other staff members include: Karen Bull, coordinator of the Community Program's teaching staff; Joseph Diefenbach, Princeton High School boy's coach; John Corzi, athletic coach, Princeton Regional Schools; Norman Peck, assistant tennis and squash coach, Princeton University; and Melissa Magee, physical education instructor at Princeton Day School.

Entries close at noon Thursday, June 16th for women's singles; June 23 for men's singles; July 7 for women's doubles; July 14 for men's doubles, and July 21 for mixed doubles.

For further information, call the Tennis Office, 924-4343.

LEADERS UPSET

In WW Doubles Play. Reeves Black, Bob Nielsen and Jerry Wang were upset last week by Dick Dahl, Lew Coleman and Olof Hogrelus to snap their unbeaten streak in the West Windsor Recreation Commission's evening mens' doubles league.

Even with the loss, however, Black-Nielsen-Wang still lead the league at the two-thirds mark with 10 points. Close behind with nine points are Bob Duncan, Stan Tatum and Bob Schenkel. In third place with six are Dr. John DiPolvere, Jim Ruch and Pat Summers while four teams are tied for fourth.

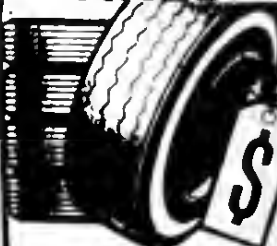

Mike Herlihy, Stan Katz and Paul St. George lead the late mens' evening doubles league with 10 points. In second place, three points back, are Arnold Kritz, Tom O'Kane and Ron Novak, while Jim Bishop, Jerry Cohen and Dave Kendall are third with six points. Two teams — Ray Giudice, Martin Lightman and Darryl Wartluft and Steve Peck, Lin Williams and Harry Wyckoff — share last place.

WINNERS CROWNED

In Soccer Playoffs. In a battle between real estate squads in the Cub league of the Princeton Soccer Club, Callaway topped Firestone, 3-0, to take the title. A 3-1 triumph over Grover Taxi enabled Princeton Pizza Palace to capture the Youth league Crown, while Peterson's Guides outlasted Rusty Scupper, 4-1, to take the Junior title.

The Intermediate league had an exciting finale. Laidlaw-Coggeshall and Commodities Corporation were tied 1-1 at the end of regulation time. A penalty kick contest was held in which Laidlaw outscored its opponent to win. In the Senior league, all four teams were in contention on the last day. When play had ended Lahiere's emerged on top with a 4-0 win over New Jersey National Bank. Princeton National Bank, Princeton Savings & Loan and First National Bank finished third and fourth, respectively.
